DEDICATION

With the memories of the hardships of the last few years before us, we wish to dedicate this book to the men and women, who through their aid and co-operation have made possible the continued growth of this institution.

The United Brethren people of this area, represented by the men shown upon these two pages, have always had a warm spot in their hearts for Indiana Central College. We wish to show our respect and appreciation for their contributions by this dedication.

I. J. GOOD
President

In endeavoring to offer to Indiana Central College, a book with aesthetic as well as historical value; to preserve inviolate the beautiful traditions reflected by the pages of this book; and to link together the past and present and produce a volume of genial reminders, we sincerely hope that the effort which has been expended on the 1934 Oracle will furnish to all the student body an enduring memorandum of the most enjoyable and most profitable years of our lives.

Explanation

Owing to economic conditions during the spring of 1933 it was necessary to cease the work already begun on the Oracle.

The financial outlook being much brighter in the fall of 1933 and by being able to use, to a certain extent, the cuts made the previous year, it was thought possible to edit a book at a reasonable cost per student.

Due to the fact that the graduating students of 1933 did not enjoy the privilege of receiving recognition in a yearbook it was thought best to give them several pages in this publication. Both the college and normal graduates of 1933 along with the athletic teams of the same year appear in this issue.

The classes of 1934 and 1935, who have assumed joint responsibility in editing this annual, wish to thank each subscriber for his cooperation in making possible this Oracle.

Since the Gamma Theta cast of Alpha Psi Omega received its charter in 1930 it has become one of the leading organizations on the campus. Its purpose is to give the students of Indiana Central College highly recognized plays, dramatically staged, and in so doing train apprentices the art of stage acting and managing. The organization has sponsored three major productions in the last two years and given two of these in other cities. The club has also sponsored several tea-time plays monthly with invitations available to the entire student body. Through money received from the major productions, tea-time plays, and other contributing organizations and individuals the society has donated to the school curtains for the stage in Kephart Memorial hall, also drapes for the windows.

 SECOND ROW: Letha Bartell, Lucille Higgerson, Nora Probst, Melvin Livengood, Williamson Harden, Charles Smith, Marjorie Wertenberger, Winona Heath, Treva Miser, Grace Adams.
 THIRD ROW: Julia Good (Pianist), Robert Barnett, Carl Nellans, Fred Koehrn, Arnold Elzey, Wayne Smith, Harold Davis, Bearl Smith, Verrolton Shaul.

The College Choir has been one of the most active organizations on the campus this year. They have been very fortunate in being under the supervision and directorship of Mrs. Gilliat. Numerous recitals have been given in high schools, as well as special appearances before the student body in the "Messiah," a comic opera, "Captain Crossbones," and the Easter Cantata.

The Y. M. C. A. is a big factor in the building of ideals and character, and in developing the social and religious life of the men on the campus. Students come in contact with the association mainly through its weekly meetings. The Y. M. C. A. solicits many of the leading chapel speakers besides sponsoring Educational Week, when nationally known speakers give lectures and hold personal interviews.

What would a college be without a band? Our band, under the direction of Shadley stands for pep. It gives the boys a snappy send-off at all the basketball games—furnishes lively chapel programs—starts the High School Day Program off with a bang. Aside from school and chapel programs, the band has been quite active in giving outside programs in the past two years.

Organized under the direction of Verrollton Shaul, this quartette has appeared in various church and radio programs.

Zetagathea, organized in 1923 at the same time as its sister society, Theacallosia, has made excellent progress in the untiring efforts of its members to stand forth as "Seekers of Good" and to live up to the noble ideal set by the motto, "There is no palm without its dust." A challenge is placed upon each member to give his best in productions, criticisms, debate and decorum at the regular weekly meetings.

True to its motto, "Labor Omnia Vincit," the Theacallosia Literary Society has worked and earned for itself a place of honor and distinction on our campus. The purpose of the society is to develop ideals of beauty and truth in the finer arts of life especially music and literature and to perfect the members of the society in the mechanics of routine and government.

Early in the history of Indiana Central College President I. J. Good and ten fellow students conceived that a literary society would be beneficial to the students as well as to the college. As a result the Philomusea Literary Society was formed in 1906.

Members of Philaletheian Literary Society strive to attain the following: punctual attendance, original and carefully written literary productions, and proper extemporaneous speaking. The ideals exemplified by their motto "Excelsior," are urged to be carried out not only in society but also in the everyday life of each member.

will complete his seventh year as head of the athletic department at Central with the passing of the 1934 season.

He won a letter in five sports while an undergraduate here.

Since taking the reigns here his athletic teams have finished the seasons among the leaders in Hoosier secondary college circles. We appreciate his earnest efforts.

The word 'BASKETBALL' is centered on the page. It is framed by two sets of vertical lines: a left set and a right set. The left set consists of two pairs of parallel lines, with the inner pair being taller. The right set consists of two pairs of parallel lines, with the outer pair being taller. Brackets are positioned at the top and bottom of each set of lines, enclosing the word. The letter 'B' is at the top, and the letter 'L' is at the bottom of the word.

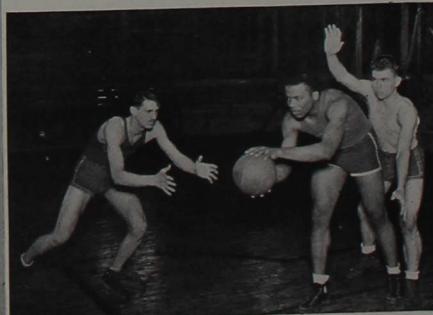

Arville Swan finished four years of varsity competition with the Greyhounds during the 1932-33 campaign. Swannie performed at the back guard position throughout his college career. He played in only part of the contests in his final season, however, dividing time with Harry Spurgeon. His efforts on the hardwood have been instrumental in winning several games for the Cardinal and Grey.

Harold Emig, too, completed a successful cage career during the 1932-33 season. Emig was chosen to captain the Greyhounds during his last two playing seasons. He proved a worthy leader and a consistent point getter throughout his basketball days at Central, having served the Greyhounds for four years.

Emig held down a forward berth and was distinguishable by his uncanny shooting and his under-the-basket ability.

Deceptive passing and ball handling coupled with scoring ability enabled Everett Swank to step into a regular position of the Greyhound team during his two years at Central. Swank completed a normal course and his basketball days ended with the season last year. He played running guard and was a tower of strength both on offense and defense. He pulled many games out of the fire with his long range and one handed push shots.

Lester McCuen has helped solve some of Coach Good's difficulties during the past two seasons. He was known to opposing coaches as the spot shot on the Central team and he upheld his reputation in many of the contests. He is a forward.

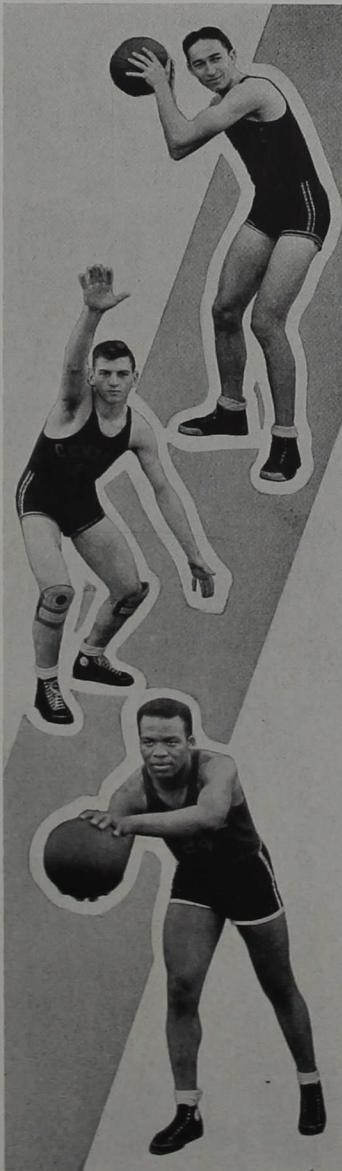

McCuen is a good floorman and passer and probably the best foul shot on the Central squad. His favorite spot was far out on the side and once he got his range he was hard to stop. He is the only senior on the squad this year.

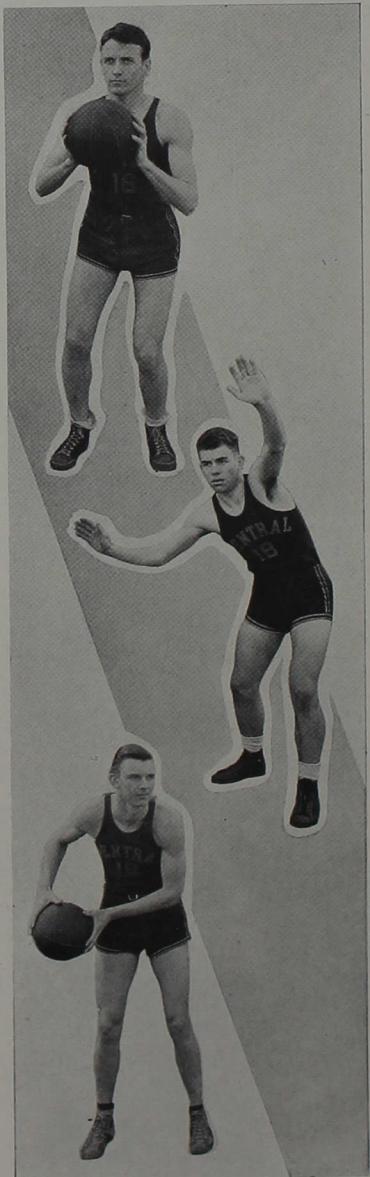

Harry Spurgeon has finally found his place on the basketball court. He played center in high school, forward during his freshman year here, but for the past two seasons he has been one of the mainstays in the Greyhound combination at back guard.

Spurgeon is considered one of the best guards in the state and his defensive tactics have seldom been equalled on the local floor. He was given a mention in all-state selections. Recently he was elected honorary captain of the team.

Dave Dejernett had a well established record before he entered Central, but during his stay here he has added to his prestige. Big Dave stepped into the pivot position when a freshman and has spent three years of varsity competition there.

The team has been built around Dave and his size and natural ability have made him a dependable key man. Besides leading the team in scoring, he gave the Greyhounds possession of the ball on practically every center jump. He was named on the second all-state team this year.

Richard Comingore found a regular forward berth on the Greyhound five this season after a year's absence from school. Although the diminutive forward was smaller than most college players, his floorwork and basket shooting and his ability to stick to his man made him a favorite with the players and students.

Dick could be relied upon to come through in the pinches. He shoots with his left hand when near the hoop.

A better long shot than William Schaefer has probably never donned a Cardinal and Grey basketball suit. Bill was the sharp shooter on the Central team this year and kept the Greyhounds in the running in many games by his sensational buckets. He teamed up with Spurgeon at guard and notwithstanding his defensive efforts he will probably be remembered for his scoring ability.

John Byers, the elongated freshman, was probably the most promising underclassman on the Central squad this year. He found a place in the starting lineup and played in every major contest during the season.

John's regular position was at forward, although he was an under-study to Dave Dejernett and was moved to the pivot position in some of the games. Byers gave the best that was in him at all times and is destined to become one of the best hardwood artists ever turned out here.

With the possible exception of the past season, the 1932-33 basketball campaign was the most successful on record here. Sixteen victories and three defeats were chalked up against Indiana's best secondary college quintets.

The Greyhounds ran their winning streak to ten before it was snapped by the Indiana State cagers on the local floor. The other two games were dropped to Ball State and Central Normal.

After trailing 13 to 10 at the half, the Greyhounds started showering the basket at Muncie and left the Ball State netters by the wayside. The tilt ended 32 to 20.

Dejernett and Swank amassed a grand total of 27 points to lead the Greyhounds to a 38 to 28 decision over Manchester. Eastern Illinois and Franklin were added to the mounting list of victims and with the victory string unbroken at ten, the Greyhounds lost to Indiana State on the local floor.

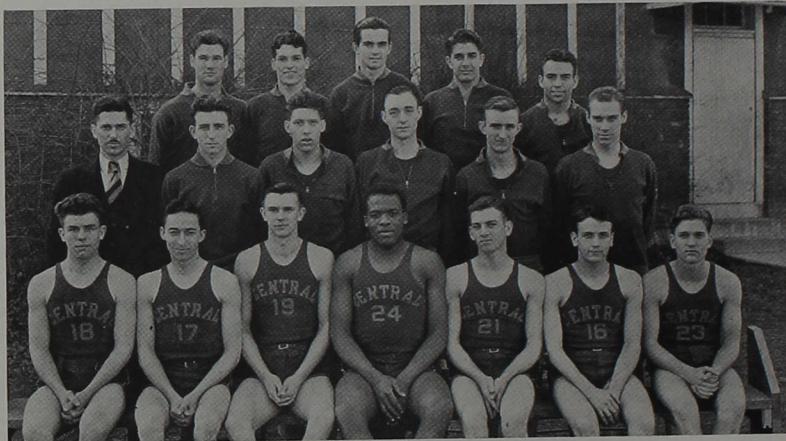

The defense of the local team was below par and the offense brought the ball down the floor time and again only to lose it. State scored twelve points before Central started and the Terre Haute team was never in danger, winning 37 to 20.

The Greyhounds probably reached their greatest heights when they invaded Terre Haute for a return game. The defeat on the Central floor had left the Central team determined to avenge the setback and the encounter at Terre Haute was one of the best exhibitions that was ever staged on the court there. Getting away to a running start the Greyhounds kept their stride throughout the entire game and even sprinted for the finish. The Central defense worked to perfection and the highly touted State team was confined to two solitary field goals, both of which came in the last six minutes of the game. The final score was 26 to 11.

SEASON SUMMARY

Leading the list of Indiana Colleges and Universities, the Greyhounds completed a schedule of stiff Hoosier college competition with sixteen victories and a single defeat.

Without a doubt, the record established this year is the best that any Cardinal and Grey hard-wood artists have ever attained. Competition for regular position on the team was keen and no player on the team could be sure of his place on the starting lineup. Before the season had progressed far, the Greyhounds began to click together and they seemed headed for an undefeated season when they were upset by Ball State late in the season.

Anderson College and Taylor University were first on the card and Coach Good used his entire team in an effort to see what his prospective players could do under fire. The scores were 37-11 and 46-18 against Anderson; 32-29 against Taylor. N.C.A.G.U. was added by a score of 54-14 to the list of victims and then excitement reigned high in the Greyhound camp as the Central athletes prepared for the encounter with Butler. The northsiders had a team composed entirely of veterans which had won the championship of the Missouri Valley the previous year.

Approximately five thousand fans saw the Central five trail the Bulldogs 20 to 15 at the intermission; saw a fighting Central team knot the score at 28; saw Troup and McCuen enter the game and contribute ten points to give the Greyhounds a 32 to 31 victory.

Taking Manchester 32 to 15 the boys journeyed to Danville to annex the seventh victory. Danville started fast and the Central team appeared helpless as the Purple Warriors amassed a 11 to 0 lead during the early part of the game. Finally the boys gained their stride and began a gradual comeback to pull within four points, 14 to 10, in the half. Comingore's long basket tied the score at 22 and an extra period was necessary to win 28 to 22.

The team journeyed to Manchester to register a 25 to 21 victory.

Two games were won from the Indiana State team. The first encounter was played at Terre Haute. Neither team could manage to command a comfortable lead and the half found the score tied at 13. The second half found the two teams playing on even terms and the second period ended 27 to 27. Comingore converted a couple of free throws in the overtime to make the final count 29 to 27.

The second game was won by Central 44 to 29. Seeking their fifteenth victory of the season the locals traveled to Ball State, a team which they had defeated 29 to 25 earlier in the season. They experienced difficulty from the first and lagged behind 14 to 3 at the rest period. The Greyhounds could never hit their stride and suffered the lone setback of the campaign, 23 to 14.

The Central Homecoming game was played with the Central Normal team and the Greyhounds emerged the winner, 35 to 24.

Taylor was dropped 40 to 27 and N.C.A.G.U. suffered likewise, 35 to 11.

Franklin was defeated 19 to 16 and the boys closed their season with a 42 to 32 win over the Baptists.

Junior Wilson roamed in center field for the Greyhounds for three years but was lost last year by graduation. Although short in stature, Wilson's ability to hit and field proved his right to hold a regular position. He was a hard man to pitch to as can be seen by his batting averages. Last year he ended the season with a percentage slightly below the four hundred mark.

Lester McCuen is ending a brilliant four year diamond career with the 1934 season. McCuen has represented the Greyhounds on the mound in several games and when not delivering the slants is usually found on first base.

He was credited with several victories last year by his pitching but his graceful and spirited performances on first base are beyond the reach of most college players.

Gordon France finished three years of playing on the Central team with the passing of last season. When he made his appearance in a Greyhound uniform he was assigned to the third base corner but played his last two years at second. Frenchy developed rapidly in both hitting and fielding, however, his hitting was irregular and he was never as good with the bat as with the glove. He was elected captain his last year.

John Simon, playing three years at short, was one of Coach Good's best seasoned athletes. His speed in fielding and throwing the ball coupled with his ability to wield the bat made him as valuable as any man on the roster.

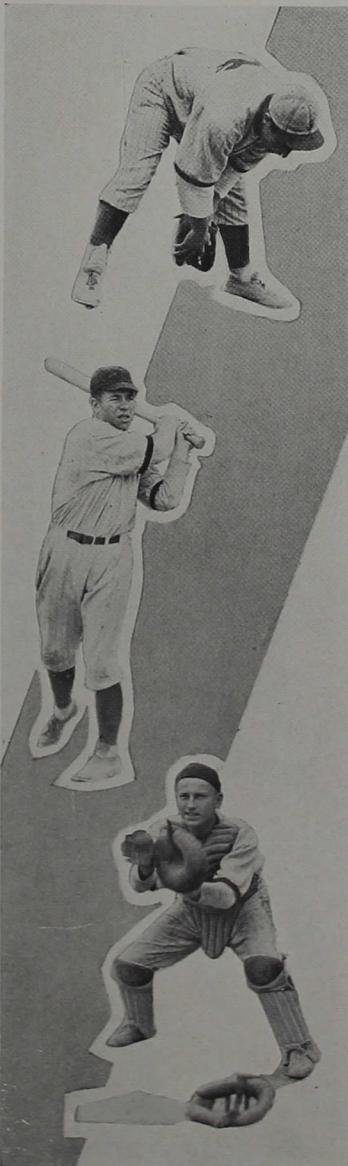

John was a favorite. He kept the team in high spirits by his sensational stops and by his chatter. A foot injury kept him from the regular lineup last year.

William Schaefer tried his hand at baseball during his freshman year and was assigned to the right field position which he held down during the 1932 season. Conflicts have kept him from the diamond sport since.

Bill was an outfielder of high calibre and handled practically all chances which came his way but he had difficulty in tuning his batting eye.

Noel Genth was promoted from utility man, which position he held during his freshman year, to Coach Good's star catcher. Noel has been on the receiving end of the Central batteries during the past three years. He will complete four years of playing with the current season.

In addition to his hitting, Genth probably possesses the best throwing arm on the team as is demonstrated by his accurate throws to second which have kept the opponent's stolen base record very low.

Clark Williams made his debut in a Central uniform year before last when he played right field for the Greyhounds. Williams' appearance in the lineup adds spirit to the team. His ability to field and hit could not deny him a place on the team. He was not in school last year but is again on the team this spring.

Arville Swan was one of Coach Good's best twirlers. Swannie received the pitching assignment in many of the major contests during his four years on the Central team. Graduation ended his brilliant career here last year.

Alva Ward alternated his baseball work on the mound and on the first base sack. Ward faced the opposing batters in several games and was credited with several victories during his three year career which ended last season.

Lowell Barnett stepped into a regular short stop assignment during his freshmen year and has been scooping up the ball for the Greyhounds for the past two seasons.

Added to Barnett's ability to field and throw the ball is his ability to hit. His season's batting average last year was slightly less than .400.

SUMMARY OF BASEBALL SEASON OF 1933

Superb pitching and good support on defense and ability to clout the ball carried the Greyhounds through the season last year with an undefeated thirteen game schedule.

Double victories over Central Normal, Earlham, Depauw, Franklin, Butler, and N.C.A.G.U. and a single triumph over the Wabash diamond men closed the most successful baseball season that any Central team has ever enjoyed.

Coach Good was fortunate in having a pitching staff which was able to keep the opponents swinging. Swan, Bright, McCuen and Ward received all the hurling assignments but their support was encouraging and the hits were well distributed.

Too much credit can not be given the fast infield and outfield which handled many chances which might have gone for hits against many college teams. The team was equally as strong on the art of run getting as on defense.

Swan was on the mound in the first game at Central Normal and allowed but two hits as the Greyhounds won a 3 to 2 verdict. Barnett had a good day at bat pounding out four safeties in five trips to the plate. In the return game both teams were hitting the ball. Ward started on the mound for Central but retired in favor of Swan in the fourth.

DePauw fell before the locals in the third game by a 9 to 5 count. The Greyhounds hit safely but three times but DePauw errors and walks paved the way to nine runs in the first four innings. Swan went the entire route for Central.

McCuen set the Earlham nine down with five hits to lead the Greyhounds to a decisive 17 to 2 triumph over the Richmond athletes.

McCuen again pitched the locals to an easy 10 to 4 triumph over the Franklin Grizzlies on the soggy Franklin field. Central hit French, Franklin pitcher, for sixteen safeties.

Swan's 2 to 0 shutout victory over Wabash was probably the best played game of the season. He was knicked for five scattered hits but never was the Central ace in danger. Doolittle was the heavy hitter with a double and two singles in five trips to the plate.

Two victories were won from the N.C.A.G.U. diamond men. Swan delivered the slants in the first game as the locals won 12 to 3 and Bright was on the mound in the second battle. Bright allowed but one hit and struck out eleven men. However, the Greyhounds were unable to reach the offerings of Pratt and Bredenberg for but five hits.

McCuen held Franklin to four hits as the Greyhounds won 9 to 5. Good support behind the pitching of Bright accounted for a 7 to 1 triumph over Butler. Bright allowed seven hits while his teammates pounded Sutphin and Davis for fourteen singles.

Coming from behind, the Greyhounds scored five runs in the last three innings to drop Butler 7 to 6 on the local lot. Outhitting Earlham ten to four, Central won a 7 to 0 victory over the Quakers.

Bright twirled the Greyhounds to a 4 to 3 victory over DePauw in the last game of the season.

The addition of John Bright, pitcher; Paul Doolittle, outfielder and catcher; and James Hannon, third baseman, to the team strengthened the Greyhounds for last season's campaign.

Paul Doolittle was not only the hardest hitter on the team but he was consistent and could be relied upon to solve the opposing pitchers' offerings. Doo finished the season with a batting average close to the .400 mark.

John Bright not only topped the batting average but was considered one of the best bets on the mound. Johnnie was credited with four victories. Bright's pitching was smart and his control almost perfect.

James Hannon was Coach Good's third sacker last season. Jim worked nicely into the fast Central infield. He was a fair hitter and especially good on drawing free passes to first.

TRACK TEAM

FIRST ROW: Bruce Lowe, Howard Ellis, Leon Moody, Wayne Corbin, Maxwell Middleton, Bearn Smith.

Track was added to the Central sport calendar last spring, after two years' absence. Only one letter man from the team of 1930 was back in school and Coach Koenig was confronted with the task of putting a team into the field from a group of inexperienced track team.

The Greyhounds reached their peak in the Little State Meet at DePauw where they finished sixth in the field of Indiana Secondary colleges. Johnson jumped his way into a three way tie for first place when he cleared the bar at six feet one inch in the high jump. He also won fourth in the broad jump. Dave Dejernett garnered a second place in the shot put with a toss of over forty feet. Corbin finished third in the two mile run. Poe finished fourth in the half mile and Swoverland finished fifth in the mile run. The mile relay team ran fourth.

Central finished second in a triangular meet at Butler in the first engagement on the schedule. The Greyhound runners outscored N.C.A.G.U. but were far behind Butler in second place.

Earlham had little difficulty in defeating the Greyhounds in a dual meet at Richmond.

The Greyhounds were making decided improvement but hard luck accompanied them to Hanover where they lost a 68 to 62 dual meet. The Greyhounds won seven first places mainly in the distance runs but were unable to pick up enough points in the dashes and field events to win the meet.

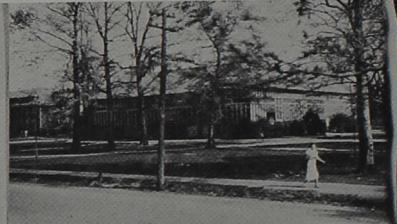

Trailing the Danville trackman by three points as the mile relay, the final event began, the Greyhounds led their opponents in the baton race to carry off honors in an interesting 66 to 64 meet at the Central Normal field. Earnest Poe took high point honors by winning the quarter mile and taking second in the 220 yard dash and the half mile run.

The N.C.A.G.U. runners took the measure of the local thinly clad in a dual meet, the last of the season. The final score was 67 to 63.

Ten men were credited with the necessary points for a letter in the first year of competition. Paul Johnson in the high jump; Brownell Payne in the high jump and hurdle races; William McCarty in the pole vault; Elmer Brown in the hurdles; Dave Dejernett in the dashes, discus and shot put; Wayne Corbin, Leon Moody, and Lester Swoverland composed the distance running trio; Earnest Poe in the dashes and distance; Ray Linson in dashes and broad jump.

FEATURES

COMMENCEMENT WEEK

The twenty-eighth annual commencement last year marked one of the largest graduating classes in the history of the college. One hundred and twelve seniors and normal students received their diplomas. Forty-nine received degrees for the four-year course, six others received special recognition and fifty-seven were presented with two-year normal certificates.

Reverend C. W. Bonebrake, superintendent of Illinois conference and pastor of the First United Bethren Church of Decatur preached the baccalaureate sermon at the College Church Sunday morning, June 4.

The "Revel of the Roses" was one of the outstanding features of the week's activities. A pleasing pageant was built around the stories of Robin Hood and his Merry Men. Sherwood Forest was the scene where her majesty, Queen Helen Schmidt, held court. The climax of the pageant was the crowning of the junior queen, Darline Clements. The pageant was under the direction of Miss Irene Doup and Leola Hansen.

The annual noon-day alumni luncheon was followed in the afternoon by Literary Societies teas. Later the alumni held their business meeting, followed by a picnic supper.

The Senior class presented, "Peg O' My Heart." Virgil Hague and Hulda Longacre played the leading roles. This story of a poor Irish girl who inherits a fortune from a deceased uncle but rebels against her aristocratic guardian family, attracted quite a large crowd.

Reverend John G. Benson, Superintendent of the Methodist Hospital of Indianapolis, delivered the commencement address Thursday morning in the College gymnasium. President I. J. Good awarded the diplomas. Mr. Alva Ward received the award of Summa Cum Lauda of his class.

HUMOR

Nellans: I want to pay that bill I owe you.
Cook: Oh, yes, certainly.
Nellans: But I can't.

Letha B: How do you like my new dress?
It's the last word you know.
Jim: Knowing you I suppose you had to have it.

Elmer B: Do you think we shall ever have universal peace?

Prof. Haramy: Hardly, I fancy that lovers and marriage will never be entirely abolished.

Byers: What are you going to do this summer?

Dick: Oh, I'll try to get ahead for next year.

Byers: Well, heaven knows you need one.

Hansen: Goodness, but you were born bright.

Smith: Certainly, and knocking around has polished me considerably.

Tom Hannon: Dr. Morgan, do you think that man descended from the apes?

Dr. Morgan: No; but I've sometimes thought it might have been the other way around.

Elzey: I'll agree with you, the styles have certainly become tough on the blind.

Sammy A: They do things quite differently in Mexico.

Ratliff: How's that?

Sammy A: The presidents do most of their running after the election.

Dr. Boggs: Do you suffer from morning headaches?

Miss Becker: Certainly I suffer. If I had enjoyed them I wouldn't have called you.

Salesman: You'll find that this is very good for the moths.

Mrs. I. J. Good: Then I don't want it, I want something that is hard on them.

HIGH SCHOOL DAY

The fifth annual High School Day was marked by a large attendance. Over twenty-one-hundred visitors, many of them coming from distant points, attended the program given in the gymnasium.

The program opened with a band concert after which representatives of each of the four classes, faculty and President Good gave short talks. The speakers were: Melvin Livingood, Freshman; Leola Hansen, Sophomores; Lester McCuen, Juniors; Helen Schmidt, Seniors; and Prof. Stoneburner, Faculty. Throughout the program special music was presented by the different musical organizations of the College.

In the afternoon the visitors were entertained by a minstrel show given by the men of the campus, under the direction of Gordon France and Virgil Hague. The members of the Troubadour quartette were the end men. They were supported by James Eaton, Interlocutor, and a circle of eight men including Professors Stoneburner and Gilliat. Besides this there were several short acts including, Shadleys' syncopators; Robert Cosselman, the one man orchestra and "Bum" Wilson and "Duke" Gantz.

MORE WIT

Busche: Poets are strange fellows, here's one who speaks of an aching void. How can a void ache?

McCuen: You should know, haven't you ever had the headache?

Noblitt, in Astronomy class: Can you give me the name of any star that has a tail?

Helen White: The only one I know is Rin Tin Tin.

Dant: What are you doing with that trombone. I didn't know you could play it.

Nick: Neither can Walt House while I have it.

Kellum: No man ever made a fool out of me.

Clifton: Who was it then?

Barnett: You're the breath of my life.

Heath: Let's see you hold your breath.

Life is just one damp thing after another, said the clothes line to the under shirt.

O'Dell: Love may be blind, but marriage is certainly an eye opener.

Prof. Carmony: What are the two greatest evils of the world today?

Myers: Halitosis and dandruff.

Prof. Haramy: Why will we never again have polygamy in this country?

Brice: Kitchenettes are too small.

Owing to the censor, one half the world doesn't know what the other half is laughing at.

Don Carmony says that all he is or ever expects to be he owes to Edith.

A wit: He isn't bragging he's apologizing.

Naomi: You surely have a short arm.

Oady: Yeah, but it gets around.

Bahan: Gosh it's hot down here.

Mike: Guess I'll hum a little air.

Pattie: Have I made myself plain?

Miss Weaver: No, but nature did.

She sat sweetly on my lap,
My hand ran down her spine;
She loves me so, I like to play
With that old cat of mine.

It takes a cold-blooded teacher (Miss Ross) to give a student a mark below zero.

Prof. Morgan: Each one in the class name one of the species of lower animals, starting with Mr. Bailey.

Mrs. Coake: When Vick proposed I suppose you said, "this is so sudden."

Dorothy Y: No, I said, "the suspense has been terrible."

MORE JOKES

Swank: I don't love my girl anymore.

Parks: Have a quarrel?

Swank: No, I hurt my arm.

Wertenberger: Why is this milk so blue?

Hansen: I suppose it's because the cows are discontented.

Wilma Eaton: I just got back from the Beauty Shoppe, I was there for hours.

F. Stine: Too bad you didn't get waited on.

Deliveryman: There's a package of fish marked C.O.D. for you madam.

Belden: Send it right back, I never learned how to fix cod.

Customer (to Doolittle behind counter): Are you the head of this business?

Doo: No, I'm only the heir of the head.

Dick Good: I'm trying to grow a mustache and I'm wondering what color it will be when it comes out.

Helen George: At the rate it's growing I should think it would be gray.

Son Joe: Dad, is it dishonest to buy votes?

John J: Yes, my son, if you don't pay for them.

Weidler: Were you operating in the stock market when it broke?

William Harden: No, I was operated upon.

Harry Spurgeon: What is it that has four legs and stands in a barn, and can see equally well with both ends?

Dave: Beyond my imagination.

Harry: A blind mule.

Mr. Haramy: In which of his battles was King Gustavus Adolphus killed?

John Devine (waking from nap): I think that it was his last one.

Mary Lou French: Was Robinson Crusoe an acrobat?

Miss Cravens: I never heard that he was. Why do you ask?

Frenchy: Well, it says here that at the end of his day's work he sat down on his chest.

Outsider: How do you like rooming in the dormitory?

Dot Cooper: Oh, fine! Sometimes I don't like what they serve to eat, at times it is a bit cold and then I don't like the quiet hours; but the gossip is excellent.

Wallace (in chapel): Why do you prefer Wagner?

Koehrn: Because he composes about the only kind of music you can hear above the conversation.

Merrill Brown: I got another Mae West letter from Kek today.

Ponder: How's that?

M. B.: Come in to see me sometimes.

Miss Cravens: What's the reason Robert Carter stays so long after the bell rings?

Jessie Johnson: I am.

Kraemer: What would you consider a good range for my voice?

Livengood: Judging from your singing I prefer a long range.

Miss Lehman: Do you think you could come near guessing my age?

Kenneth Eller: Not with any degree of safety.

Miss Weaver: Why did you miss class yesterday?

Roscoe Smith: I was unparliamentary.

Miss Weaver: What do you mean?

R. S.: I was out of order.

T. Miser: My dad is better than yours because yours just practices law; but my dad is really a minister because he just preaches and preaches and never practices.

Don Carmony: I was just crazy to get married but I didn't know it until after I was married.

Sibert: I believe a man should give his girl plenty of rope.

Clupper: That's what I did with mine and she skipped.

Employer (to Whit Wolfe, applying for a position): You say you're perfectly normal?

Whit: Yes, Sir.

Employer: Do you shave yourself with your right hand?

Whit: Yes, Sir.

Employer: Then you're not normal, most people use a razor.

EDITORIAL VIEWS

It is with regret, yet with the greatest of pleasure that we do prepare this final page of the 1934 Oracle. For two long and eventful years we have borne the worries of editorship and at last we are able to say, the task is completed, is finished, is accomplished, and is at an end. There are many to whom we are indebted for their splendid and unselfish cooperation in aiding in publishing this book. But space will permit the mention of only a few of these:

Mr. Kek, our faculty advisor, for his splendid cooperation in giving of timely advice and suggestions.

Mr. Marshal, Mr. Todd and Mr. Ropkey Jr. for their aid in developing and planning the book, and their aid in cutting our expenses to a minimum.

Mr. Clem C. Voorhis, for his high quality of photography and his willingness to give us rush service.

Mr. Bowser of the Commercial Service Company for his splendid advice and for his aid in getting the book out on time.

To the staff much credit is due for their splendid cooperation and tireless energy in preparing this book.

Williamson Hardin and Robert Carter as business managers for the wonderful manner in which they have handled the sale and distribution of this book.

William Schaefer, as associate editor for his willingness to aid at all times in the preparation of this book.

Francis Ratliff, as art editor for his mounting of snapshots in the wee hours of the morning.

Keith Simpson, as literary editor for his individual write-ups and time spent in typing.

Huber Gilliat, as sports editor for his excellent work in Athletic section.

Harold Freshley, as joke editor, for his jokes and cooperation.

So we close with a feeling of pride in having completed in editing this yearbook, and we wish to apologize, for all mistakes which may be found within its covers.

And as Dave, the wonder man, once said,

"The day is done and so am I."

Good-bye, must be going now;

Lester O. McCuen
