FOREWORD

It is the hope of the staff that in future years when you have all become successful citizens and fathers and mothers—yes, even grandfathers and grandmothers, you will often take time out from your innumerable activities and review with pleasant reminiscence the happy years spent here which, we trust, the scenes in this book may recall to your memory.

PHILALETHEA

The Philalethean Literary Society of Indiana Central College is unusually thriving. There are a number of new members in the bar. With every one interested and doing her part the impromptu sessions this year have been especially good. Productions have been excellent. The addition of several musically inclined individuals has improved the bar. Through the suggestions of Miss Weaver, the sponsor, the society has been able to approach the superior standards which Philaletheans hope always to maintain.

First Row: Simmerman, Reuben Smith, Adams, Hudson, Baker.

PHILOMUSEA

When in days to come we recall college hours, one of the happiest of our memories will be that of dear old Philomusea. We shall always cherish these fond memories sealed by true friendship and far surpassing untold wealth. Its thirty-two years of existence are now history, but still its standards and achievements remain as high as in the days of its beginning.

Encouraged and guided by Philomusea we will go ever onward toward the attainment of wisdom. "Hic educare vos vitae deep graven on each heart shall be found unwaveringly true when we from life shall part."

THEACALLOSIA

Literary societies have a definite place on the campus and in the life of each college student. The valuable training received in the mechanics of parliamentary law and government help to prepare one for future life. We learn to develop and find the ideals of truth and beauty in good literature and music. For instruction as well as entertainment we have this year enjoyed debates, music programs, book reviews, and informal poetry and impromptu sessions along with our regular sessions. With the addition of many freshmen and upperclassmen, the bar has been practically full this year. Years hence we can look back and pleasantly recall the friendships and benefits added to our lives for having been in Theacallosia.

ZETAGATHEA

*May we always hold in memory a place for you
Dear old Zetagathea, here's to you!*

For fifteen years Zetagathea Literary Society has played a very prominent role in the college life of those who have been members. Every Monday night the members gather to learn to appreciate that aesthetic side of life which deals with literary art and speech. At the same time parliamentary law receives its due consideration. Incoming members are seemingly surrounded by a conglomeration of autobiographies, treatises, book reviews, debates, etc.; however, before very long the meeting begins to take on a meaning and purpose. Soon they are placed in active participation in duties and events which are not unlike those they will meet in post-college life, and thus, because of this participation will be fully prepared to cope with like situations. While learning all these things members of Zetagathea enjoy themselves. Although formality is present to some extent, members respond and participate more quickly in the atmosphere that predominates our somewhat informal meetings.

COLLEGIATE DRAMATICS SOCIETY

The dramatics society has done excellent and commendable work this year. "The Goose Hangs High" was given December 10th under the direction of Miss Esther Stotler and was very much appreciated by everyone. On March 25th Mr. Wilbur Wilson very successfully directed "Jane Eyre." Both plays showed very fine acting and management, and both were exceptionally well received by students and faculty.

BASKETBALL

Starting out on a season which promised no great success, the fighting Central Greyhounds surprised the state with a fine record of only four losses against sixteen victories. Only a last of the season slump kept the Good aggregation from capturing the pole position in the Conference race. The four defeats, all against conference teams, came after Central had chalked up an impressive twelve game winning streak which was culminated by Manchester on the fatal night of January 21.

With Bohr and Sharpe doing big business with the nets, the men of Central smothered Taylor in two consecutive games to start the season with a bang. The scores: 52-32, 60-33.

NCAGU invaded next with no more good fortune than the hapless Taylorites. The Greyhound netmen had little trouble piling up a 42-16 score. The visitors on the other hand had a difficult evening in the face of the powerful defense put up against them.

On the second road trip of the year the Greyhounds solved the Anderson defense problem in a few minutes with the result of a 50-19 win. Again the Central defense looked good as it limited the host school to less than twenty points.

NCAGU again! This time the battle was all that might be expected when the two clubs tie up. But again the Centralites were the better aggregation. The timer's gun located the score on a permanent 35-31 basis.

The Anderson ballhandlers came next for a return game and with hopes of revenge. Central allowed them enough points to win any ball game played under the old rules but Anderson played the good Samaritan with their defense, too. The overwhelming result was 76-38, Central.

Going after their seventh straight win with little hope given them, the fighting hounds walked all over the highly touted Ball State five. The final score was 43-28.

Central's eighth straight victory came at the hands of the Huntington five in the latter's goal house. It was a decisive victory for the Greyhounds and served to show that there was to be no let-down after the Ball State affair. The record reads 44-24.

Just before the Christmas vacation the boys went to Kokomo to administer a 37-31 defeat to the stubborn Kokomo five. Then as a matter of starting the year right they thumped the Kokomo squad again, this time on the local floor. The reserves of Central looked good in the 44-22 victory.

Four days later a journey to Hanover College brought a great 11 point victory and saw Central riding the crest of the wave in the Indiana College Conference ratings. The score: 51-40.

The game of the year occurred in the Butler Field House on the night of January 18 on which occasion a fighting bunch of bulldogs lost their grip and became victim number twelve as a result of Central's 43-40 victory.

And then came the dawn! A fine Manchester quintet stole Central's thunder and added it to their own to score a great 59-48 victory before a large home-coming crowd in the University Heights gymnasium. It was Central's first loss of the year.

Huntington came to town to see what could be done about avenging a twenty point set-back administered to them earlier in the year by the Greyhound five. But Central was still twenty points better as the score ably shows, 54-34.

June may bring her roses but February had only funeral wreaths for the hard fighting Goodmen. Franklin scored an overwhelming 50-33 victory and sent the Greyhounds home with their tails between their legs.

But the cat came back and so did Central for at Manchester three nights later they put up the greatest fight of the year only to go down into defeat by a 47-45 margin in an overtime game. Though the score fails to give the satisfaction desired it is the consensus of opinion that the Dogs won a moral victory.

With two straight defeats behind, the Central squad found its third consecutive road trip more pleasant. The Indiana Staters found their home floor not good enough as Central breezed through at a 50-35 win.

The last defeat of the season came at the hands of one of the finest teams that has played on the University Heights floor in recent years. The Ball State Cardinals came seeking revenge and in a well-played game got what they came after. The final score was 50-31.

The teachers from Indiana State managed to squeeze in another point in the Greyhound gymnasium on the occasion of their visit here. But still it wasn't close enough to be a good game. 50-36 was the score.

Hanover came last, and almost least as Central walked away with a 51-36 win. Red Dorton, Ralph Eaton, and Captain Ray Crowe, playing their last game in the Central uniforms were cheered roundly by their host of admirers consisting of students, faculty, and community well-wishers.

Managers

BASKETBALL MEN

KENNETH DORTON

Red has ploughed through four years of varsity basketball in a Central uniform. A steady, dependable player, his place will be hard to fill. On and off the floor Red was a great sport and good fellow. Central wishes you well, Dorton.

RAY CROWE

Captain Ray Crowe he was this year and he led his team through a great season. Ray goes the way of the seniors but his fast breaking and hard driving under the basket will remain in the minds of Central students through many seasons. To you, Ray, Central gives best wishes.

RALPH EATON

Playing three years on the Central squad, Ralph proved himself a hard guard to get around and a dangerous man on offense as well. At the foul line, he was deadly. It's the graduation route for this third member of a splendid trio of ball players. Good luck to you, Ralph.

HUGH HISE

Hugh distinguished himself this year as an excellent man on rebounds. Time and again his snatches off the backboard led to scoring drives on the part of Central forwards. Hugh will have another year to wear the Cardinal and Gray.

WILLIAM SHARPE

Tony made his second year a continuation of the first with the same eagle eye from the field or close in. He proved the nemesis of many a good guard over the state and will not be forgotten. Rival coaches have one more year to worry about him. In another year Sharpe ought to be even sharper.

HENRY POTTER

Potter is yet to meet his equal in ball handling. A great reserve man, he will prove valuable as a player when another hardwood season rolls around. Hank put spark into the game with his splendid dribbling, lightning passing, and efficient ball handling.

JOE BOHR

Great cog in the Central scoring machine was Joe Bohr, playing his second year on the squad. He proved a menace to opposing teams, doing his deadly work from the side or by the tip-in route. Joe's dependability and steadiness has served Central's interests well and great things are expected from him next year.

HAROLD GODWIN

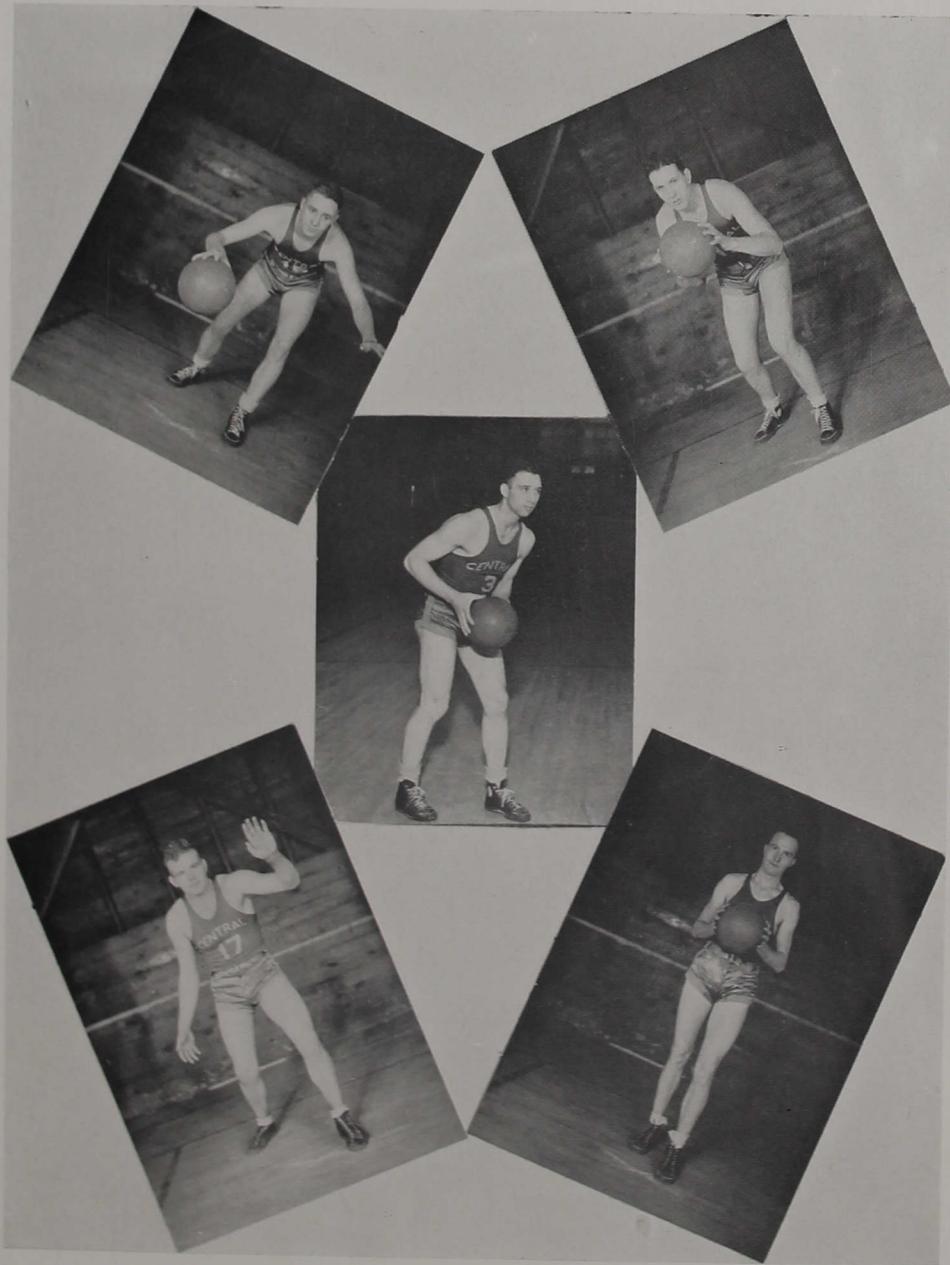

Godwin found out he could win and it wasn't long until everyone knew it too. Always a conservative and steady player, Jake cast aside all reserve and by the end of the season almost ceased to be a reserve. His effective work under the hoops, his stick-to-it attitude, his nonchalant bearing on the court won him a place in the hearts of every fan. Jake will be back.

ROBERT RICE

Rice played through the season with a regular berth on the reserve squad. His competency as a ball handler and backboard worker won for him the respect of fans and opposition alike. He played a hard game and played to win but the quality of his sportsmanship was as outstanding as his playing. He has another year.

ARTHUR WEDDELL

This was the first year Mose played with the squad but his splendid showing calls attention to the fact that he has two more years with the Cardinal and Gray. Mose played with the reserves throughout the season and proved a valuable man on defense. His superior bulk will count in future contests as it has in the past. On offense the Medora monster isn't anybody's slouch. He should do well in the next two years.

Second Row: Patterson, Kirts, Brockman, Dorton, Hise, Potter, Manley, Coach Good.

BASEBALL

The Greyhound squad under the able coaching of Harry Good saw a fine season, playing seventeen games of which twelve counted as victories against only five defeats.

Opening the season with a rush, the local nine walloped NCAGU on the Greyhound diamond 9-1. Potter struck out 14 of the opposition while Swank, Byers, and Clayton were doing damaging stick-work.

At the annual High School Day game, the Hound nine sent the Methodist from Greencastle home on the short end of a 9-4 score. Keene pitched a fine game for the local club keeping DePauw's hits well scattered. Brown, Byers, and Hise did a good job at bat.

Again NCAGU came and again were conquered. Cox struck out 16 visitors to aid in the 9-8 win.

Third time was charm for NCAGU. In a sparse hitting affair Central lost 11-8.

Journeying to Richmond, the Hounds took it on the nose from Earlham 5-2. Earlham's four run rally in the sixth brought on defeat. Brown led Central's batting attack.

Three straight losses it soon became with Butler doing the damage at the North Side field. Failure to bunch their hits cost them the game. The score: 8-1.

NCAGU evened the count on their next invasion. In this May morning spectacle the visitors walked away with a 7-2 win allowing the locals only two hits.

With four straight losses on the card, Central came back with one of the greatest May campaigns in recent years. Butler was sliced 7-3 with Keene allowing only six scattered hits while collecting two for himself to lead in the batting.

"On to Taylor" became "All over Taylor" as the Greyhounds trimmed their hosts 11-6. Kirts pitched for Central. Sharpe, Byers, and Hise did able work in the splinter department.

Butler came again hoping to make it two out of three but the tables were turned to the tune of 10-5 as Keene pitched superb ball and Dant, Byers, and Brown hammered the opposing pitchers.

Fighting hopelessly against a day of errors the Greyhound moundsmen took their second defeat at the hands of Earlham, 5-3. Potter allowed only five hits but eight errors made victory impossible.

The visiting Hillsdale College nine stopped at the Heights diamond long enough to offer great opposition before falling 3-1 before the hitting of Swank and the 3-hit pitching of McNamara.

On a lark to Greencastle the Central boys gave DePauw another beating. Keene allowed three hits. Brown and McNamara worried the DePauw hurlers. Score: 4-2.

In their second encounter Central made it two straight over Taylor, 8-3. Potter and Swank looked best for Central. Cox pitched five-hit ball.

Spoiling Butler's chance to even things, the Greyhounds played heads-up ball to win 3-1. Dant led the Central hitting and Potter did his usual job on the mound.

In a great close-up of a splendid month of play the local squad defeated Ball State twice. In the first game Central out-blasted the Muncie men, 13-7 while the second game was a low scoring affair with Central on the long end of a 4-2 count.

The season's close saw the last of college baseball for Brown, Swank, Byers, Dant, McNamara, Kirts, and Cox.

TRACK

Under the competent leadership of Coach Ralph Ponsler, the Indiana Central trackmen won four meets, took second in another, third in the Little State, and managed to eek out a couple of points in the Big State. All around it stands as one of the finest season's records in the last few years.

In a triangular meet with Taylor and Kokomo the Centralites ran rough shod over the opposition taking every first place with the exception of the pole vault. The score: Central 79 Taylor 18 Kokomo 11.

A few days later in a meet with Earlham, Danville, and Taylor the men from Central amassed a total of $58 \frac{1}{3}$ points to defeat the second place Earlham thinlies by only $\frac{1}{3}$ points. Byers took 3 firsts, Crowe 2, Manley 1, and Central won the mile relay. The score: Central $58 \frac{1}{3}$ Earlham 58 Danville $35 \frac{1}{3}$ Taylor $10 \frac{1}{3}$.

In their last April meet the Centrals took second place in a triangular affair with DePauw and Danville. The score: DePauw 68 Central 54 Danville 37. John Byers captured three firsts to lead the Greyhound attack and was ably seconded by Wonnell and Manley.

On May Day the Greyhounds turned on the steam against Kokomo, NCAGU, and Anderson. The score: Central 120 Kokomo 6 NCAGU 5 Anderson 0. The local cindermen took every first place and all but two second places.

Closing the dual meet season with Hanover, the Centralmen, paced by Byers and Crowe, smothered the opposition under a blanket of points, 86-40.

The last meet in which the strong Greyhound aggregation took part intact was the Little State affair at Greencastle. Indiana Central captured third place and put on a real show of class. Byers counted two firsts.

At the Big State meet held at Notre Dame, John Byers tallied two points to put Indiana Central in the scoring.

Leading scorers for the year were as follows: Byers 110, Crowe 87 1/4, Shepherd 50 1/2, Reuben Smith 38, and Wonnell 22 3/4.

CROSS COUNTRY

Prior to the opening of school in the fall Coach Good and the Administration made plans for the addition of the Cross Country to the yearly track schedule. Working on the theory that a good track man must train the year round, the Athletic Department desired the incorporation of the new sport into the regular program. So, to shorten the proverbial long story, a call for men was issued at the beginning of the school year. The response was gratifying. Eight men began training on the new one mile course laid out around the baseball field, the tennis courts, and the backyard of New Hall. Ralph Ponsler was placed in charge of the squad and began preparing for the meets which were in the process of being scheduled. Central participated in five such meets. The results were not at all discouraging from the standpoint of a new sport. The team turned in a victory in a dual meet, took second in a triangular affair, lost two meets—a dual and a triangular, and placed third in the Little State. The personnel of the team is as follows: E. Garriott, Frey, Hiatt, Hinshaw, Rothenberger, D. Smith, P. Smith, and Reuben Smith. Letters are not to be given participants in this sport, but credit will be given toward the securing of a letter in track. It is well to point out the two distinct advantages of the addition of the Cross Country. First, there is the creation of more interest in Track. And by no means of less importance is the training of long distance runners.

Coach Ponsler again presided over an interesting and worth-while intra-mural program. Softball was played in the fall with a six team league being won by Ralph Smith's nine. Verlin Mattox, a sophomore, captured individual scoring honors in basketball with 92 points. The all-intra-mural basketball team, selected by Don Johnson, sports editor of "The Reflector," consisted of the following selections: forwards: Lamb, Holzhausen, and Kirkpatrick; centers: Wilcoxon, Bevington; guards: Thompson, G. OUR COLLEGE YEAR

Lowly freshmen, bewildered and depressed
Revived their spirits at the Mixer, formally dressed.
Tom Fouts whistled; Stickney read a poem;
All were sorry when 'twas time to go home.

Next came the tug-o'-war at Longacre creek.
The Sophs pulled the Freshies in with many a screetch.
We all ate wiener, coffee, doughnuts and peaches,
After which we sat about and listened to speeches.

October the first came the upperclass parties—
Which were given for the freshmen
For welcomes sure and hearty.

On October eighth came our first skate in the gym.
Thanks to the Y. W. and the Y. M.
Even our faculty had some skates,
Which caused some bruises and dreadful aches.

November the seventh Dr. Fred L. Dennis came—
To preach to us the Gospel in Jesus' Holy name.
He gave us friendly counsel, kind words and good advice.
To have had him here among us we think was very nice.

We had a grand Thanksgiving dinner in the college dining hall.
The fellows carved the turkeys. There was enough for all.
The waitresses and waiters in their neat black and white
Marched in as Dr. Durban took pictures of the sight.

When we came back to college, after being gone
three days,
In the chapel, stained-glass windows met our delighted gaze.
On the seventh of November our Greyhounds beat Ball State.
Because of the big bonfire, the co-eds stayed out late.

"The Goose Hangs High," starring Buescher and Wonnell,
Was presented in December and was received quite well.

The Christmas season was well crammed with manifold activities—
Dinners, parties, and the like to meet all our proclivities.

On the third day of January, to school we did return.
We buckled down and studied hard our final grades to earn.
At our Homecoming game on the twenty-first Manchester beat us, and we thought we would burst.
(Our first defeat—the thirteenth game!
Oh, what a shame! Oh, what a shame!)

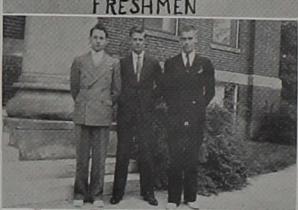

On the twenty-fifth of January our new semester started.
From our intelligent student body only a few were parted.
At our Valentine banquet, Jack talked on Dan Cupid.
Wonnell is Jack's last name. We know he's not stupid.

Then Jerry's recital and Miss Craven's tea—
The Scottish girl's visit—we liked them all three.
At the college Y banquet there was plenty to eat.
Beck's and Wilcoxon's speeches made the evening complete.

"Jane Eyre" was presented—March, the twenty-fifth day.
Jack and Frances co-starred; Wilbur led the way.
On the eighth of April many high school students came
To visit our dear campus and to learn of Central's fame.

The week before Easter we had our vacation.
Those late to Monday's classes needed no explanation.
Next came the "lit" banquet where all had their fill.
Then juniors and seniors went to Hollyhock Hill.

On a Saturday morning, the seventh of May
We had a May breakfast to start a fine day.
"The Mikado," recitals, and senior events
Will be worth remembering many years hence.

"What is Ruth doing now?"

"She is a telephone operator."

"Does she consider it a job or position?"

"Neither—it's a calling."

* * *

Helen, "Ralph, how come they call you an electrician?"

Ralph Hudson, "Because everything I have on is charged."

* * *

Jane Hickman, "What makes a balloon go up?"

Faith, "Hot air."

Hickman, "Hm, what's keeping you down?"

Two lovers quarreled.

Some one suggested they kiss and make up.

They did—

She got the kiss.

He got the make-up.

"Did you know Ralph Smith called his car corn plaster?"

"No, how come?"

"It makes walking more enjoyable."

Time: 6:30 one Monday evening.

Place: Zettagatha literary hall.

What: An impromptu by Clyde Olsen in which the following was embodied:

"I was born a Swede, I have lived as a Swede, and I hope that I shall die a Swede."

Don Johnson, critic: "And we thought Mr. Olsen was an ambitious gentleman."

Velocity is what a boy let's go of a bee with.

* * *

Dr. Strickler, "Mr. Bradford what is vacuum?"

Braford, "Let me see, I have it in my head, but I just can't think of it."

* * *

Chet Klingerman, "How do you make hash, Mrs. Miller?"

Mrs. Miller, "We don't make it, it just accumulates."

* * *

Sophomore, "Are the Seniors deep thinkers?"

Junior, "I think so, none of their ideas ever come to the surface."

* * *

Herricks (raving): "Roomy, I tell you, she has the prettiest mouth in the world."

Oakes, "Oh, I don't know, I'd put mine up against it any time."

* * *

Olsen, "What a well-curved mouth you have, Hank, it ought to be on a girl's face."

Potter, "You very seldom see me miss an opportunity to put it there."

ROOMIES

THE RAVEN

(With apologies to Poe.)

By J. W. COLE

Once upon a midnight dreary,
While I pondered, weak and weary,
Cramming for examinations

On a book of history lore,
While I nodded, nearly napping,
Suddenly there came a tapping
As of some intruder rapping—
Rapping on my chamber door.
Thought I, " 'Tis some student scrapping,
Scrapping near my chamber door,
Only this and nothing more."

So I said, "I'll just ignore it,
I won't blame those Freshmen for it.
They're not cultured—I deplore it—
Like the noble Sophomore."
So I settled down to cramming,
Cramming for the big examming,
Facts into my cranium ramming
Facts from history's musty store;
Names and dates and events jamming
In my head so tired and sore.
This I did and nothing more.

While thus deeply concentrating,
Came the sound exasperating
Once again the silence breaking,
Interrupting as before.
" 'Tis some boys who lack discretion,"
Said I, with a wry expression,
"Come to hold a bulling-session
Here upon my chamber floor.
'Tis the height of indiscretion!"
Muttered I, becoming sore,
"Surely that if nothing more."

So I gave a shout, "Who is it,
Coming with a nocturn visit?
Will you state in terms explicit
Why you're knocking on my door?"
No one answered to my calling.
Then there came the thought appalling,
Sending cold chills spineward crawling:
Thought I, " 'Tis the monitor,
Come to sentence me to hauling
Coal for twenty hours or more,
Which has happened once before."

Staggered by a thought so shocking,
Hurriedly the door unlocking,
Fingers trembling, kneecaps knocking,
Open wide I threw the door.
There instead of my conjecture,
Even most minute inspection

Could reveal in no direction
Any person near my door.
Said I, " 'Tis those foolish Freshmen
Playing tricks to make me sore,
Only this and nothing more."

Dazedly my portal closing,
I was quietly reposing
In my armchair, lightly dozing,
When there came the sound once more.
As I glanced about me, searching,
Suddenly I noticed, lurking
In the gloom, a raven, perching
On the transom of my door.
Watching me with evil smirking
From his perch above my door
Terrifying me once more.

"Alas!" I cried in tone despairing,
" 'Tis an evil omen, bearing
News most terrible and scaring
Of what morning has in store.
He's a fiendish incarnation,
So I gave an exclamation,
"Tell me, Raven, I implore;
In this big examination
Shall I make a passing score?"
Quoth the raven, "Nevermore!"

Staggered by this statement crushing,
Tears into my eyes came rushing,
Sorrow up within me gushing
As I sank upon the floor,
Then I cried with nerves all shaken,
"Could you be perhaps mistaken?
Can I not, O Mr. Raven,
If I cram four hours more,
Cram until the birds awaken,
Make at least a passing score?"
Quoth the raven, "Nevermore!"

Then he flapped his wings gigantic,
Gave a croaking laugh, satanic,
Throwing me into a panic
As it echoed o'er and o'er.
Out the window he went flying,
And that laugh so terrifying
Heard I in the distance dying,
As I lay upon the floor,
Swooning with the horrifying
Thought of doom impending o'er
To be lifted, nevermore.

Dear Reader:

Just as a basketball game is not won by any one player, but victory is dependent upon the whole team and coach as well—so this Oracle is not the work of any one individual, but is the result of the combined efforts of the staff, junior class, student body, and advisors.

I, as editor, am taking this opportunity to express my sincere thanks to Mr. Bowser of the Commercial Service Company, Anderson, to Mr. Kek, for his fine advisory aid, to Ralph Eaton, last year's editor, for his helpful suggestions, to the Oracle Staff for its wonderful cooperation, and finally to the student body as a whole. It is your book; you have made it possible.

Appreciatively,

Bruce Wright
