The ORACLE is a collection of thoughts, studies, and activities, compiled by many to show the events and opportunities awaiting the person who enters the doorways of Central. Four "doorways" are offered to us by the college if we choose to enter. We develop our minds and increase our determination as we open the door of STUDY. Through SERVICE we strengthen our characters while aiding others. Flinging open the third doorway, SPORTS, we develop ourselves physically and morally, bringing out the quality of sportsmanship. Entering the doorway of the various SOCIAL ACTIVITIES, we acquire the art of living and working with our fellow man in harmony. By following Christ's ways and living near Him each minute, we come to the final archway of eternal life.

OUR GUIDE, COUNSELOR, AND FRIEND

We have only to enter the doorway marked "President" to find a man who is truly our guide, counselor, and friend. A quick survey of his nine years of service to Indiana Central College will prove that I. Lynd Esch is that man. He came here bringing with him a background in teaching, industry, and Christian ministry as well as the strong qualities of leadership and administration which he has developed. And he has tirelessly given of his knowledge and ability in working toward the expansion and development of our school. In this striving for a better Indiana Central he is now being assisted by Parker P. Jordan whose official title is Assistant to the President. Our president is well qualified to guide life here at Central and is always ready to be our friend and helper. It can always be said of him, "He is our guide, our counselor, and our friend."

THROUGH STUDY

The book of knowledge lies open to us as we enter the doorway of study. We train our minds and organize our thoughts to use these open books effectively. Hours of preparation precede the various classes. The lamp of knowledge burns throughout the night as those nearly-due papers are being written. The cultural aspects of the entire world are available to the students through this doorway of knowledge. Many films are shown to portray the ways of life and the future for the world. Assimilation of all this learning enables the student to use it throughout his life with judgment, understanding, and thoughtfulness.

THROUGH SERVICE

The doorway of service stands open to all. Through it can be seen the many organizations and groups working together to serve God and their fellowman. The students give their time and talents unselfishly in fellowship of song, work, and play. The devotional prayer meetings and the varied chapel programs challenge the students to live a Christian life in action, speech, and thought. Every hour throughout the year there is a service being done by at least one of the many groups. All the students unite their abilities and services in the inspiring Religious Emphasis Week services during the fall and in the spring drive of WUS for service to students all over the world.

SPIRITUAL GROWTH

Rev. Koenig and his family bring to the community a new message.

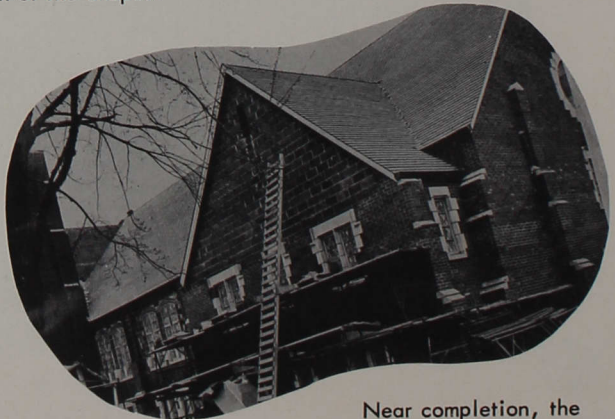

Dr. Washburn, Religious Emphasis Week speaker, broadens our ideas and ideals of Christianity.

A new center of worship adds to the beauty and inspiration of the chapel.

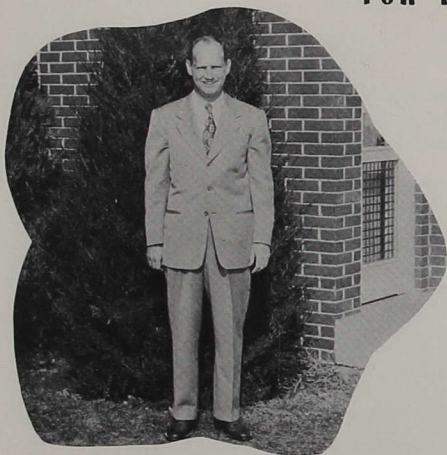

The church is enlarged to serve our needs.

Near completion, the doors soon will open to those who will enter.

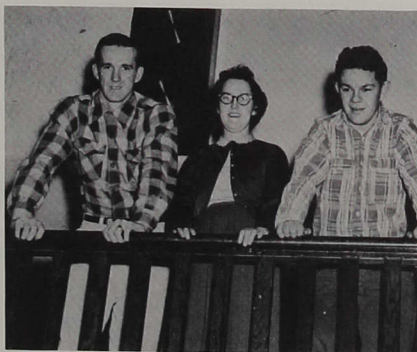

FOR EFFICIENCY —

Dr. Deever cures the aches and pains of the students.

The chapel programs are arranged by this committee, headed by Professor Weber.

It is the duty of these dorm presidents to help direct the activities of Buxton, Wilmore, and Men's Hall.

Seating arrangements and any arising problem in the dining hall are worked out by this committee.

A vision of a new administration building was given to the people of I. C. C. By selling chapel seats we work toward this goal, under the leadership of these four.

THROUGH SPORTS

Through this doorway are many activities which will help us to develop a sound mind in a healthy body. These two go hand-in-hand, and it is difficult to achieve one without the other. Therefore the field of sports goes hand-in-hand with our academic studies. Here at Indiana Central everyone has an opportunity to participate in some form of athletics outside of the required hours of physical education. The fellows find varsity teams of cross country, football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, and golf as well as the intramural program. For the girls there is also a well-rounded intramural program including the "buttons and bows" version of Hoosier hysteria -- the Whippets. Moreover, in playing the game, we develop mentally as well as physically. The spirit of cooperation and good sportsmanship which we develop is equally significant now and equally important to our future lives.

THROUGH SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Crossing the threshold of the social life one beholds the sight of people in the many varied activities on the campus, rushing about and working -- but all to the tune of laughter.

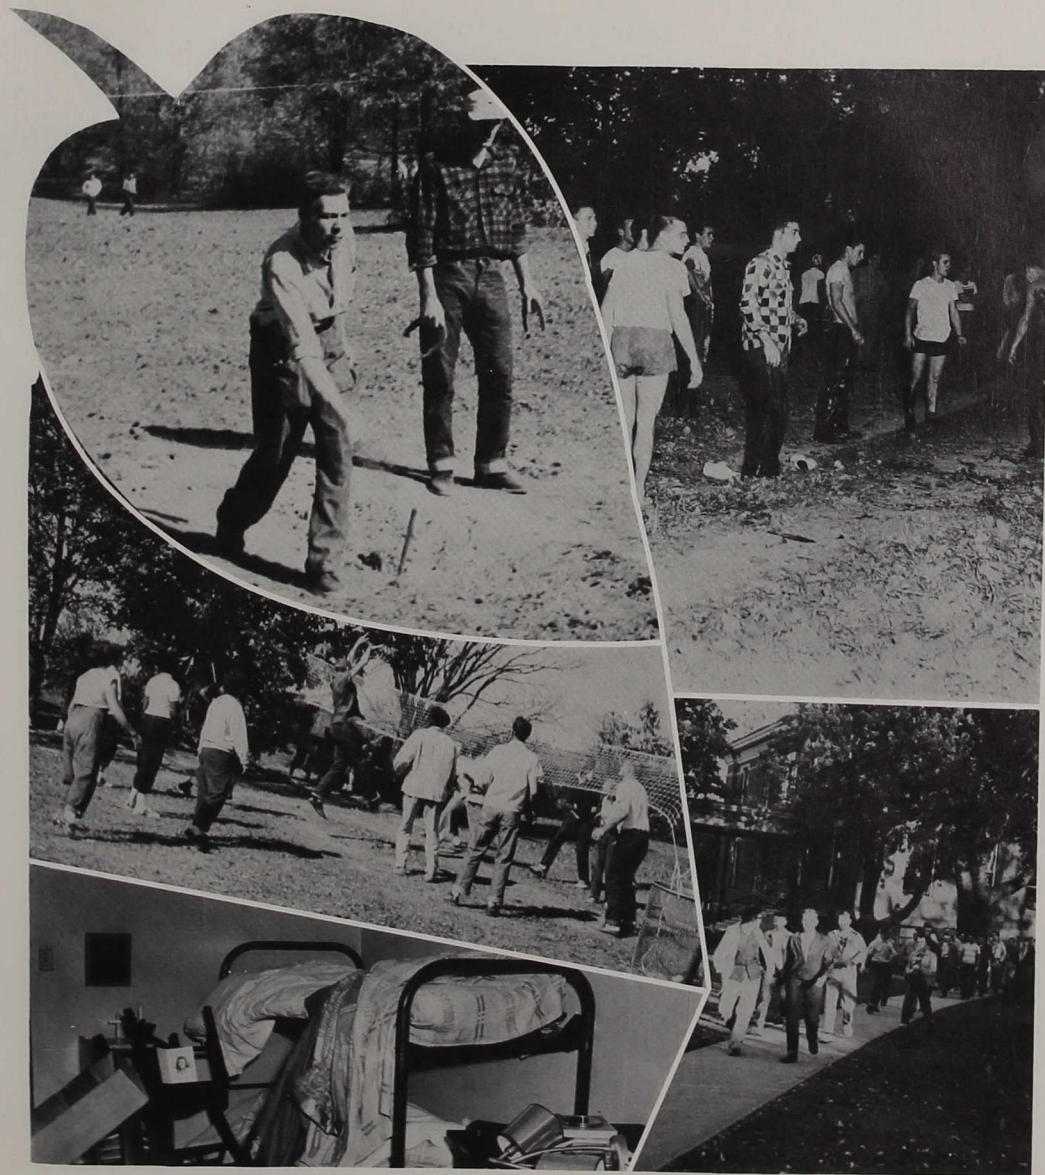

Through this doorway are found the many organizations working in competition, working for each other, working together. The year begins: skates, walkout, square dance, tug-of-war, stunts, hay-ride and steak roast (burnt steak), senior skip, swimming party, banquets, and plays -- and more laughter. Discussions of various jobs and careers are held by students in the cupboard as they tap their feet to the rhythm of the band or to the choir upstairs. Ushering at various programs enables the student to see a noted show or concert. Some events succeed, others fail, but never the same thing goes wrong twice. This is the social life, the individual in the group; and from it can be heard the ring of laughter echoing throughout the year.
