Registration and actively open

Jan Arnett double-checks his schedule before continuing registration.

Freshman Orientation begins the fall semester by gathering first-year students on campus with the purpose of explaining Central's procedures. Meeting four days before registration, the frosh gain insight into traditional patterns and new curriculum plans so that on Registration Day they are ready to encounter, with the upperclassmen, the challenges of schedule making.

Pam Ormond is one of the few who can begin registration with a smile.

Frosh Orientation the fall semester

Jeff Irvin hurries to complete his Registration Set.

President Esch ceremoniously caps a freshman before the traditional bonfire.

As the registration line slows to a halt, students take time out to greet and make friends.

Sophomores KO wet Frosh

The sophomores retaliated for last year's soggy loss by defeating the freshmen in the traditional Tug o' War. From the confident, triumphant shouts of the sophomores as they pulled still harder on their side of the Beech Grove Park Pond to the agonized, unbelieving cries of the freshmen as they saw their lead man's foot slowly sink in the mud, the victory became evident. The sophomores, however, were almost pulled in before uniting in a steady "heave-ho" rhythm to douse the freshmen who, because of the defeat, were required to wear their beanies—which somehow seemed greener than before —for another week.

The Sophomore team stands on the opposite shore contemplating their strategy while freshmen get ready to put up a hard fight.

Cold, muddy water and another week of green beanies are all the frosh get for their valiant resistance.

Juniors haunt Class Stunts

Killer (Jeff Irvin) yells "Where in the heck are the lights?" as he boldly enters on Dinah's (Dinah Theobald) shoulders in the Junior Class Stunt, "1993."

Class Stunts went to the Class of 1965 for the second consecutive year. Following the Tug, talented members of the classes united to present a stunt in keen competition with the other classes. The first place represented the culmination of weeks of hard work in assimilating an idea, writing a script and presenting the final product.

In their first class stunt, four frosh dance to the Jet Song from "West Side Story."

Although freshmen Phil Connell and Anne Greenwood seem to be arguing, they are actually falling in love.

Academic ghosts haunt the Old Administration Building in "1993" and capture the fifteen-dollar first prize with their creaky floors and eerie sounds.

Nancy Cap Waters reigns over the 1963 Homecoming festivities.

Nancy Waters

October 12 was a day of victory for Nancy Waters. Not only was she crowned queen at half-time of the football game, but the senior class float, of which she was co-chairman, won first place for the class floats.

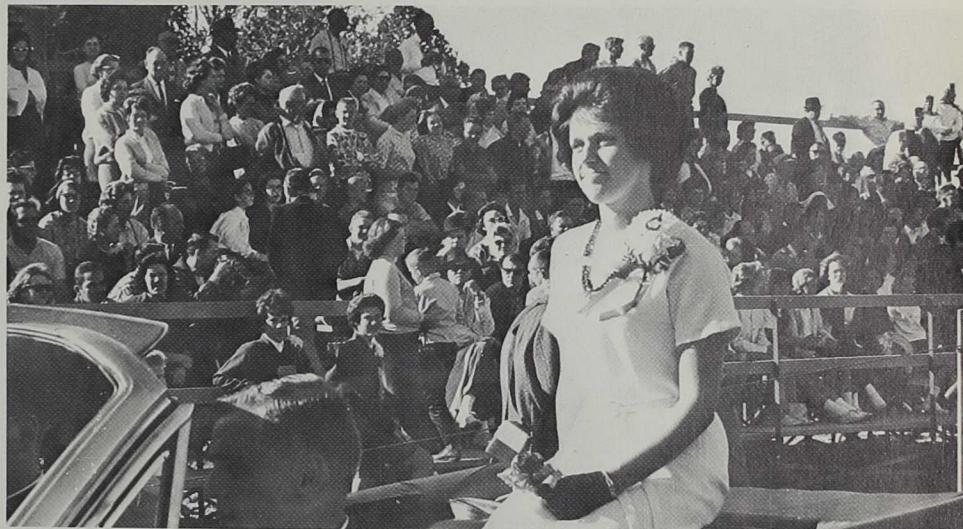

Nancy is a 21-year old senior from Acton, Indiana and is the daughter of Mrs. Dreldon Green, Jr. In her junior year, Nancy was secretary to the Student Council, a Homecoming Queen candidate, a dancer in the musical, "Plain and Fancy," and a member of the May Festival Court.

She is a member of the Student Education Association, Phi Alpha Epsilon, the Honor Roll, and Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Nancy plans to become an elementary teacher, and to gain experience in working with this age group, she works on Saturday mornings with 10- and 12-year-old girls at the YMCA.

The members of Nancy's court are Sondra Naab, Mary Lou McPheeters, Queen Nancy, Sugie Windsor and Linda Jackson.

reigns as Homecoming Queen

Nancy's face reflects the excitement of Homecoming as she rides in the parade just before the crowning.

Clark Crafton makes official Nancy's title of 1963 Homecoming Queen.

Lambda Chi moves its first-place float into parade formation.

Homecoming is a

The certain thrill experienced during Homecoming remains unique in the memories of college life. In a whirl of confetti and crepe paper, Homecoming festivities emerged from the planning stage to colorful reality. In the traditional unifying spirit, clubs and organizations produced for students, alumni, and residents of Indianapolis a parade and dormitory decorations to encourage the defeat of Chicago Illini.

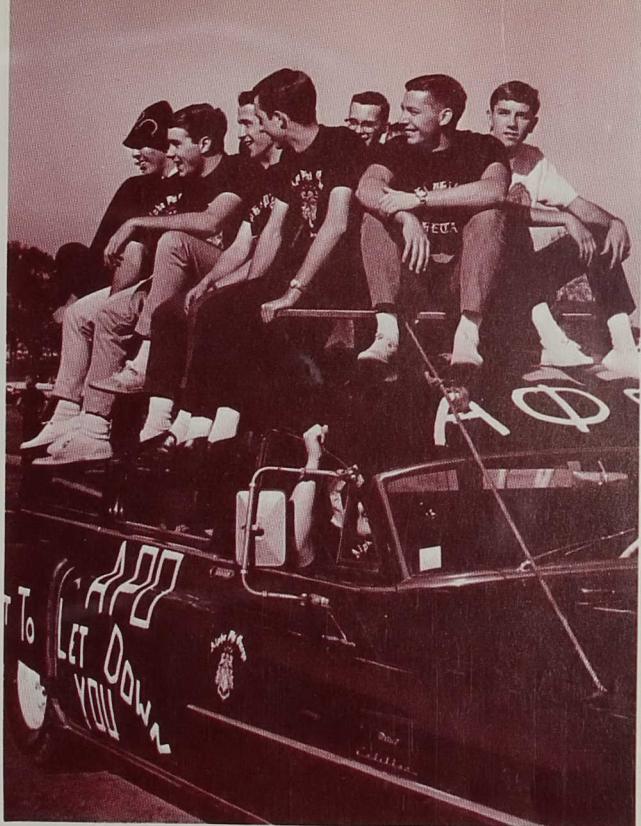

Energetic Pep Band boosts Homecoming spirit by going Dixie.

Familiar sights seen at Brown County

Professors and students retreat from the monotony of classrooms to the warm, inviting atmosphere Brown County provides.

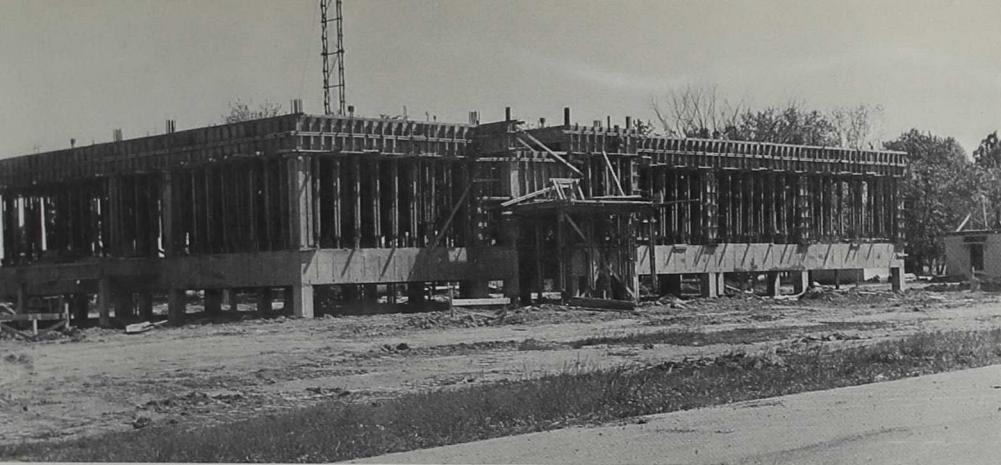

Early in the fall, students and professors drove down to Brown County State Park for a day of relaxation and fun. Professors challenged students to the horseshoe toss, badminton, or touch football while others went on hikes or studied. The day was made complete when Slater Food Service served charcoal-broiled steaks for lunch.

Familiar sights seen around campus

Freshman Tom Hull finally finds the hallway to the General Office.

Bill Faust makes a sketch of the Academic Hall for his art class.

Dorm life challenges imagination,

Comparing engagement rings, cooking after hours, studying before the television, and suggesting ways to set off a fire alarm to make Wilmore's raid successful, exemplify life in the women's dorms, Krantern and Trimble. Trimble Hall, traditionally the home of freshman girls, boasts the most sought—after lounging area on campus. Krantern Hall, sponsoring the well attended dorm parties, houses some frosh and all upperclass women. Although there are many disturbances in both dorms, the prevailing atmosphere aids study so that the girls can successfully combine social and academic life.

In a last minute conference girls discuss possibilities of a counter-Bermuda shorts raid on Wilmore Hall.

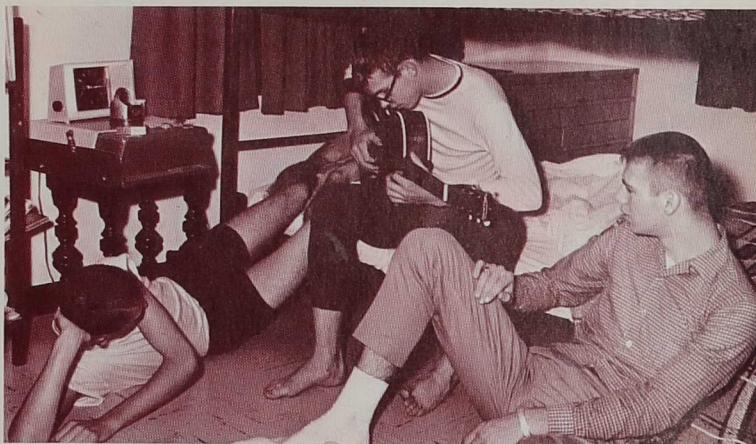

Jane Berryman is often seen dangling from the phone talking to her parents.

endurance, ideas

Comparing telephone numbers, pressuring roommates into shaving-cream fights, staging unsuccessful raids, and cramming in all-night study sessions characterize the weekly routine in the men's dorms. Dailey Hall houses frosh who of necessity need upperclass monitors to help them adjust to their new home-away-from-home. Sophomores and juniors are housed in Wilmore Hall which is usually the starting point of frosh hazing, dorm parties, and Campus Police harassing. Quiet and dignified, Buxton Hall housing seniors stands aloof and provides a collegiate atmosphere conducive to concentrated study.

A hootenanny breaks the monotony of study in Dailey Hall.

Basic religious beliefs often come under close examination in dorm discussions in Wilmore Hall.

Dismissing the possibility of room inspection, freshman Leigh Major continues a long assignment.

The Orchestra San Pietro conducted by Renato Ruotolo plays during its second United States tour.

Artist Series

Celebrated American violinist, Joseph Fuchs, performs with his renowned Stradivarius.

Enlightens

The amazing Odetta, interpretive folksinger, spellbounds audiences with her contralto voice.

In order to promote and cultivate an appreciation of the cultural and finer things of life, Indiana Central sponsored the fourth annual Artist Series for students and the community. These presentations offered interested persons opportunities to view representative artists of exceptional excellence from each of the fine arts.

Church activities, CVA and RE Week

emphasize and strengthen religious life

Religious life at Indiana Central is strengthened and made real through attendance at the University Heights Evangelical United Brethren Church, participation in the Christian Vocations Association, and response to confrontations during Religious Emphasis Week. Larry McCarty and Delilla Boyce, under the guidance of Becky Coombs, plan Student Fellowship, Flanner House, Tea and Controversy discussions and Tuesday morning Prayer groups.

Malinda Wiles and Ron Scott were co-chairmen of Religious Emphasis Week which featured the Reverend Wilbur Howard of the United Church of Canada. Students and faculty were urged to take advantage of the chapels, encounter groups, evening confrontations, dorm confabs and private consultations to get the full impact of the week and its theme, "Who Cares?"

The University Heights EUB Chruch provides the setting and atmosphere for religious activities.

Members of the Christian Vocations Association wrote and presented "The Inquisition of Prayer" on the Universal Day of Prayer. Cast members were John Waite, Jim Hartle, Jim Yater, Clara Underwood and Reverend Ron Deem.

The Reverend Wilbur Howard, speaker for Religious Emphasis Week, helped students realize that they do care.

for Who's Who

Selection being based on academic ability, leadership, citizenship, and promise for future service to society, thirteen seniors were chosen for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities for this school year. Interests range from teaching to archeology among these students who have offered furtherance to the growth of the college.

Steve O'Malley, Pre-theological

David Huffman, Mathematics

Kathy Boger, History and English

Freshmen live it up at the year's first informal dance, the Halloween Hop.

The Business Club made money by sponsoring sock hops after many of the basketball games.

Dances add extra

Pam Ormond, Wayne Anderson, Jim Ellars, and Nancy Chambers meet on the dance floor at the Winter Dance.

Circle dancers get down to the real nitty gritty.

The Columbia Club provided the atmosphere for the Sweetheart Dance in February. The decorations were made by Jim Hull.

Dances range from the after-game sock hops to specially planned formal dances. Organizations such as the Business Club, Lambda Chi, and the classes sponsor record hops throughout the school term. The more formal dances with dance bands are successfully organized by a committee under the jurisdiction of the Central Council and by co-chairmen Ann Buchanan and Jim Hull. The dances furnish another variation of social growth for the student.

social touch to festive activities

George Schwartz contemplates a decision in the role as the average man in "Everyman Today."

In Moliere's "The Miser," Kathy Philbrook looks on as Harpagon (Dr. Eugene Underwood) gives the orders of the day to Sandy Handak.

Self-expression in drama gives students

Mary Kay Coon explains her case in "Christ vs. the People" to George Schwartz, the prosecutor.

From the time the play is chosen and the cast is selected, until the final curtain falls, there are mixed emotions in the life of an actor. Willingness to sacrifice was one of the greatest attributes of the performers as they strove to make the productions of the drama department memorable. Amateurs assumed the characterizations in the plays, but with a desire to be acclaimed superb by the audience, the players put forth the greatest of effort in the theatrical works. Professor David Deacon is the producer and director of all student productions.

Wayne Anderson, George Schwartz, and Jim Reber give a reluctant stare as the Archbishop (Bill Faust) commands the Spy (Prof. David Deacon) in Peter Ustinov's "Romanoff and Juliet."

vicarious experience in flair for acting

Romanoff (Rusty Davis) and Juliet (Mary Kay Coon) plot to elope.

Mr. and Mrs. Hooper Moulsworth (Bob Denney and Dixie Evans) sit in quiet as Juliet tells Freddie (Lee Harman) that she doesn't love him anymore.

ICC remains quiet after the storm.

Snow scenes reflect winter's atmosphere

Maintenance men shovel slush.

As snow stilled the campus for one entire day with twelve inches falling, the girls challenged the guys to venture from the warmth of their rooms. With this challenge the Krannert-Wilmore snow "ball" was in progress. Snow provided an adequate setting for many other scenes—a couple walking, a snowman being constructed, or a genuine snowball fight as the sparkling flakes covered University Heights.

Student Fellowship fills University Heights with the sounds of Christmas.

A mound of snow?

The choir leaves on its midwest tour during semester break.

as school gives way to jollity

When the snow piled up and school closed, the Krannart girls challenged the Wilmore guys to a snowball battle.

In the midst of the struggle snowed Krannart girls tried to retreat under the drifts.

Colin Deakins, Dan Lawther, Virginia Maze and John Wiggins pack equipment for its journey to the new science building.

The February 22 dedication of the Lilly Science Hall marked the culmination of months of work. As workmen rushed to complete the building before the beginning of the second semester, students willingly pitched in to move equipment from the Old Administration Building to its new home. Classes had begun and the full value of the Hall had been realized by the day of dedication, making the event more meaningful. Dr. Henry Eyring, dean of the Graduate School at the University of Utah, spoke at the ceremony. The Lilly Science Hall represents the completion of a further step toward the improvement of campus facilities.

marks new step toward academic growth

As the dedication proceeded, professors and students wondered how they ever got along with the old facilities.

Dr. Robert M. Brooker, head of the science department and professor of chemistry, opens the dedication ceremonies.

as Leap Week threatens bachelors

Student Fellowship started Leap Week off with a bang by presenting a more-or-less style show.

Hugh Burns was one of the lovelies in the Student Fellowship fashion show.

Leap Week is climaxed by the annual Sweetheart Dance.

Joyce Brittenham assumes

Joyce Diane Brittenham was Campus Queen for the 1963-64 school year.

Diligent and faithful study fill Joyce's weekday hours.

Campus Queen Joyce Brittenham, a lively senior from Fort Wayne, Indiana, is one of the busiest personalities on the campus. Upon completing her nurse's training at Indiana Central's School of Nursing in 1962, Joyce returned to acquire her A.B. degree in music. Miss Brittenham finds time to work at the Matthew S. Smith Community Center at the First Presbyterian Church and is on call as a registered nurse at Community Hospital.

In the fall Joyce was elected to Who's Who in the light of the fact that she participates in campus organizations IAY, MENC, and SEA, as well as keeping up her academic standing. Joyce also serves as secretary of the Interclub, is president of Krannert Hall, and is a soprano in the choir as singing is one of her greatest talents. A possible realization of her talent and training includes musical therapy.

May Festival crown

Coronation highlights May Festival

The May Festival court consists of Stella Sherrod Casey, Nancy Waters, Gloria Trittipi, Queen Joyce Brittenham, Michael Greene, Gail Myer and Nancy Turner.

Larry Waterman as a court jester demonstrates his agility on the parallel bars before Madelyn Means and Nancy Prickett, former queen.

Starting with a Mothers' Tea, continuing with a style show, dormitory open houses, and a smorgasbord, the May Festival was climaxed by the crowning of Joyce Brittenham as Campus Queen. "Kastle Kapers," the evening festivities, were presented by talented members of the Physical Education Department who tumbled and performed on the parallel bars to entertain the retiring court.

Members of the old court (BACK ROW) share the excitement felt by the new court as Joyce Brittenham (center) assumes the crown for the coming year.

Eugene J. McNeely, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, informs graduates of what lies ahead.

For the last time, graduates listen to President Esch who offers his best hopes for their futures.

Graduation climaxes

With diploma in hand, the graduate is confronted with a sudden awareness that the familiar is departing and the future lies ahead uncertain. This diploma, representative of more than diligent study, is symbolic of sacrifice by the student, parents and professors combining their resources and talents to give the graduate his status.

The graduates march to the lawn in front of the Administration Building where they receive their diplomas.

Future nurses receive their pins which signify that they have completed their two-year training course successfully.

college growth

Carol Bassett, former president of Kaduceans (nurse's organization) reminds graduating nurses of their responsibilities at the Nurse's Pinning Ceremony held in the afternoon before commencement.

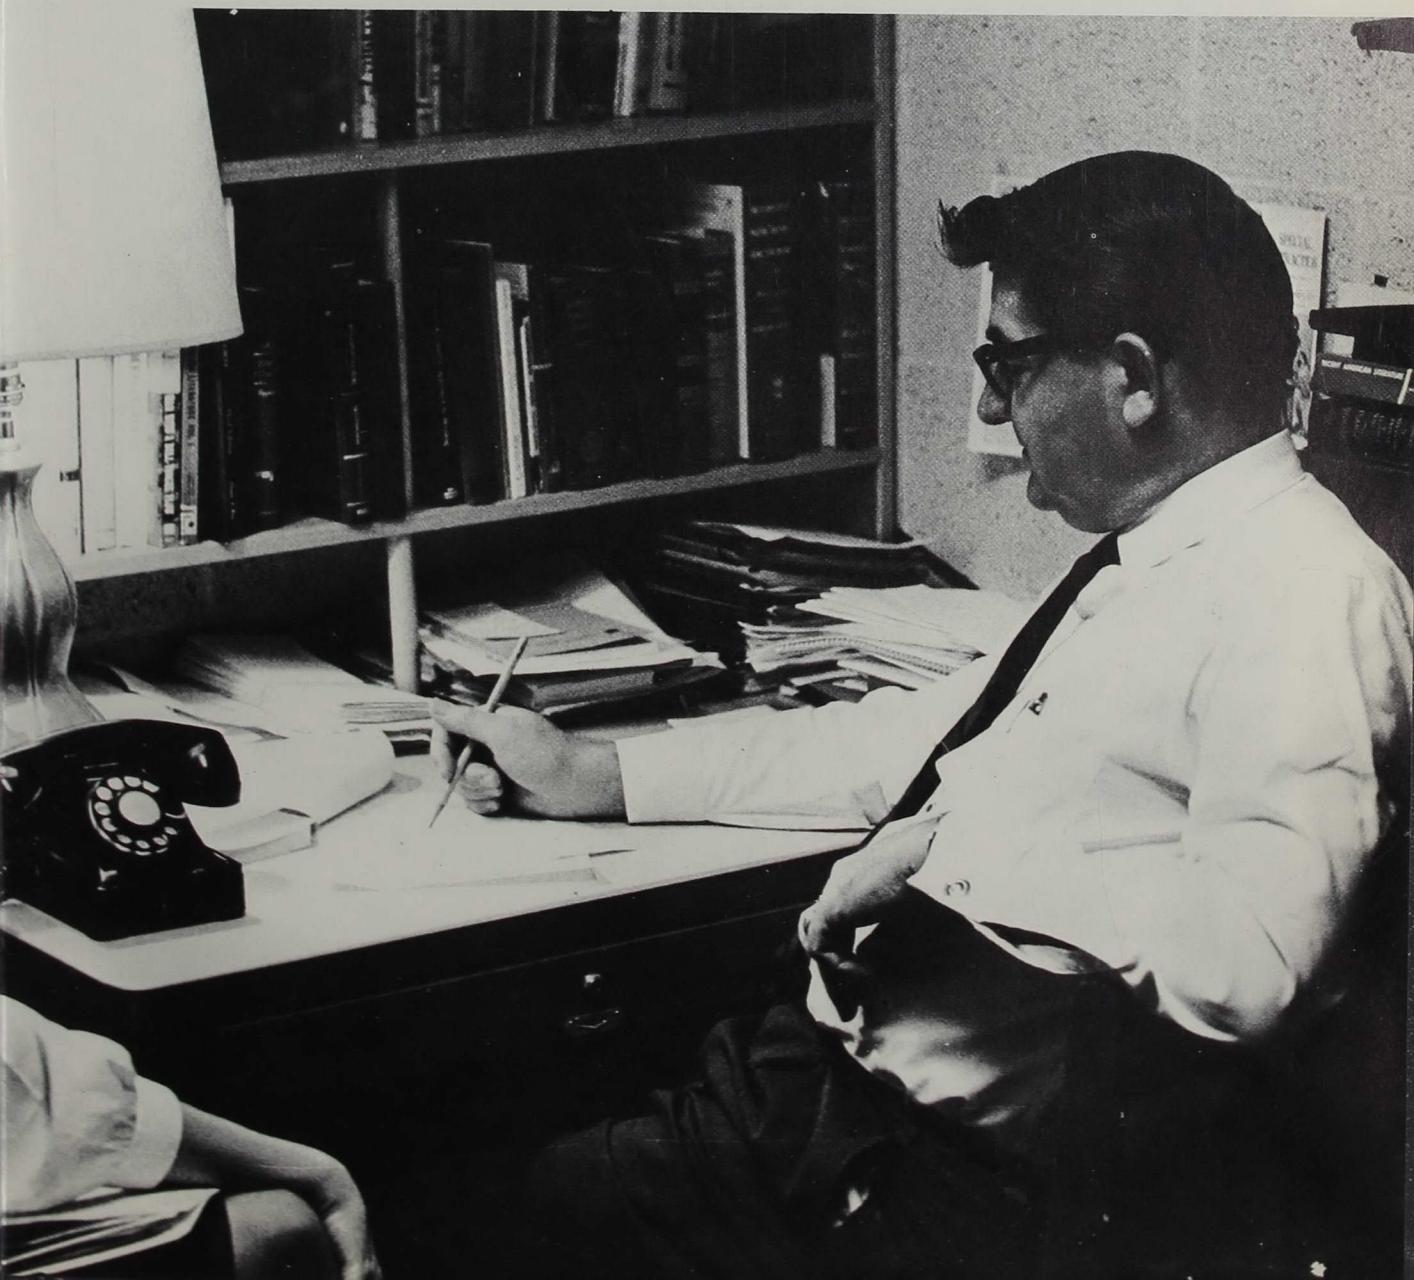

Determination, reflection, expectation and hope are mirrored in the faces of 1963 graduates Carol Ann Buchanan, Marilyn Bunner, Mabel Canfield and Lorin Clemenz.

When it became apparent that approximately ninety per-cent of the students plan a teaching career, the administration decided to review and revise the curriculum with the accent on the teaching profession. This resulted in receiving the highest rating which the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education offers. Future teachers, however, are not the only ones benefited. The new Science Hall containing the most advanced equipment, including a rooftop observatory, and the remodeled Old Administration Building concentrating all the fine arts into a single campus center, are facilities designed to broaden studies in almost any field. These constantly improving academic standards linked with personal relationships between faculty and students make undergraduate work more meaningful and practical.

Esch masterminds Central's expansion

Serving as more than a college executive, Dr. I. Lynd Esch embodies the very spirit of Indiana Central College. Distinguished, yet warm and gracious, he devotes himself and his abilities in coordinating and supervising faculty and student activities and in striving toward making the school one of the finer of the small colleges. Before assuming his responsibilities as president in 1945, he held pastorate in three California churches, later served the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, and traveled in twenty different countries. A speaker of outstanding quality, he is often in demand at high school commencements as well as at conventions throughout the Midwest. Dr. Esch, a man of varied knowledge, deep understanding, and wide experience, has proved himself to be a credit to his community and an invaluable asset to the growth of the college. The picture at the left shows him dedicating the new Science Hall.

Dr. Esch spends a leisurely evening at home in the Nelson House, a block south of the Administration Building.

Dr. Robert Cramer

Academic Dean

Helping students to live up to their scholastic potential, Dr. Robert Cramer fulfills his capacity of Academic Dean with ability and dignity. He is principally concerned with the formulation and arrangement of a suitable curriculum conducive to expansion. He also serves as advisor to foreign students and manages the cultural orientation of freshmen. A man genuinely concerned with the growth of Indiana Central and its students, Dr. Cramer is an important man-behind-the-scenes in the administration.

Mary Huey Dean of Women

Providing a receptive mind toward understanding the problems and questions of young women, Miss Mary C. Huey acts as both friend and counselor in her role as Dean of Women. From the beginning of her hectic school year when she arranges Freshman Orientation to the May Festival which she coordinates, her contribution to the growth of Central students is invaluable.

MARY C. HUEY, Dean of Women—

From a green beanie to a diploma, the 825 students of Indiana Central College strive toward reaching their goal of higher education in the midst of an active social milieu. The Tug of War, Class Stunts, Homecoming floats, talent shows and quiz shows stimulate loyalty and spirit to make each class a lively, working unit in keen competition with the other classes. Besides class rivalry, organizations and special events provide inter-class contact for the widening of lasting friendships and for the growth of individuals.

STUDENTS

Organizing the class are Mike Bertram, secretary; Carlene McClellon, Central Council representative; Bonny Gates, treasurer; Dennis Streeter, vice-president, and Dennis Stone, president. Not pictured is Ron Ellsbury, Central Council representative.

Advancing from uncertainty to adjustment, the Freshman Class became an integral part of the student body. Inundated by stacks of books, enigmatic professors, and invidious sophomores, the green newcomers eyed warily their unaccustomed environment. Orientation introduced freshmen to faculty, administrators, and the hectic, demanding collegiate atmosphere. In their first united effort, the frosh made a forceful appearance but lost the Tug to a more experienced sophomore team. Following the Tug, Stunts competition provided a first dramatic presentation; however, in this area all classes fell victim to the juniors. Sadder but wiser frosh then turned to the task of electing class officers and preparing their part in the Homecoming festivities. Organized collection of class dues financed most projects including the annual talent show. The year passed quickly, and when leaving for summer vacation each looked back on his first year thoughtfully and ahead hopefully to a new term as a sophomore.

Sophs try for spirited participation

Surviving members of the Class of 1966 returned with a confident, defiant determinism. After orientating the freshmen, the unified sophomores challenged and defeated them in the annual Tug. The pace of the victorious class then began to slow until Homecoming again sparked their spirit of enthusiasm. In Stunts and Homecoming competition the sophomores failed to place, but active class members looked ahead and began preparing their talent and quiz show representations. During the term the second year class also developed a new appreciation for the library as its members adjusted to class and schedule routine. Because the Sophomore Class found active competition rough and rewarding, next year's juniors can ably and confidently receive their third year status.

Wedged between underclassmen and seniors is the Junior Class whose tendency to win is motivated by the spirit and perseverance of its members. The Class of 1965 got off to a good start by winning the Class Stunts in the fall. Later in the year the class sponsored an informal dance, the Holly Hop, and the Junior Carnival in order to raise funds for the Junior-Senior Banquet which was held in the spring.

Planning the course of their last year in college are Senior Class Officers, Tom Short, Central Council representative; Tom Anthony, president; Jayne Major, secretary; Carl Morrison, vice-president; Malinda Wiles, treasurer, and Carolyn Huff, Central Council representative.

Commencement clearly becomes the turning point in the lives of each Senior Class member. Whether setting precedents for other classes to follow, planning successful activities or establishing a permanent class record, they look back on and are proud of active striving, sacrificing and achieving. Each has reached a high plateau in his educational career.

Campus life without diversion from academic pursuits would become stagnant and routine. Activities outside of the curriculum balance the extremes of scholastic and social life. Enthusiastic participants in organizations serve the college by supplementing class study, providing entertainment, governing student decisions, giving time to aid others, and gathering together students, faculty, and administrators in discussion on a non-academic basis. More important, however, is the opportunity for students to explore many of their interests through membership in various clubs. Dynamic leaders and interested followers learn to work together while achieving recognition in vocational or service organizations.

The Art Club is a common-interest organization which plans and prepares various field projects, art displays, and stage-production backdrops. Completing this year's program was the club's trip to Chicago.

Art, drama evoke aesthetic perspective

Alpha Psi Omega is a national honorary organization which works to stimulate interest in dramatics. Membership is obtained by accumulating a certain number of points from working in any capacity on a stage play, such as acting, stage crew, or directing.

Farrell Scott leads the Centralairs and choir capably. Jan Shank is choir accompanist.

Becky Bryant accompanies the Centralairs comprised of Janet Shank, Don Skelton, Carolyn Jacobs, Stan Adkins, Maxine Haycox, Hugh Burns, Linda Jackson, Allen Stout, Mickey Stoneburner, Brian York, Jean Simpson and Phil Connell.

The Centralairs, a group of thirteen performers who specialize in show-tune music, provide professional entertainment for school and community organizations. The well-trained Chapel Choir performs more serious numbers and helps promote the prestige of the school by the annual choir tour.

Choir, Centralairs and Band

Contributing to the cultural growth of the students at Indiana Central is the Concert Band, which gives concerts both for chapel and the public. Under the able leadership of Dan Corrigan, the band also performs at football games, marches in local parades and provides entertainment at home basketball games.

Drum major directs the band at a football game.

create the sounds of music

The wonderful world of music is explored by members of the Music Educators National Conference. A trip to Chicago, visits to music productions in the city and ushering for the Artist Series constituted a busy and exciting year for members.

Literary societies develop appreciation

The two sister organizations, Philalethea and Theacollosia, enable their members to appreciate literature, art and music, to develop literary expression, and to practice parliamentary procedure. At the bimonthly meetings, the girls give book reports, productions and speeches to reach these goals. New members are taken in four times a year and new officers are elected each semester.

The Business Club with Carl Morrison as president endeavors to develop leadership abilities and to help members solve personal business problems. Business Club members publish a college directory each year, and during the past year, sponsored several dances after home basketball games.

The Society for the Advancement of Management brings together business executives and students preparing for this occupation by selecting advantageous speakers and planning tours of local industries.

Business, management provide for growth

Science provides service opportunities

Sigma Zeta's members include Dr. Brooker, sponsor; Gary Palmer, vice-president; Tom Short, president; Jim Reber, Sue Findley, Dick Rodebaugh, Dennis Stone.

Sigma Zeta represents the scientifically-minded student in his search for greater understanding of the world around him. The biggest project undertaken by Sigma Zeta this year was organizing the moving of science equipment to Lilly Science Hall and planning its dedication.

Meeting once a month in the basement of Dailey Hall are the nursing students, the Kaduceans. The organization serves its members with experience outside the classroom and meets with other nursing schools in the city for recreational and common-interest purposes. Kaduceans sponsored a highly profitable inter-dormitory bake sale and planned a Christmas party for the nursing professors.

Members of Kaduceans are (FRONT ROW): Cheryl Bollenbacher, Lynda Asher, Lana Hunt, Sheryl Watness, Daret Matthews, Carolyn Sheen, Judy Modlin, secretary; Karen Sparks, president; Reva Sattison, treasurer; Ruth Washler, Sheryl Fix, Peggy McCormick, Suzanne Overmyer. BACK ROW: Roberta Reynolds, Janis Neidlinger, Joanne Yoder, Jill Moorman, Carol Tetzlaff, Shirley Hahn St. Michel, Sandra Berry, Sandra Berkau, Johanna Schnaiter, Charlene Russell, Sharon Larimore.

Members of the Young Republicans are: Steve Maple; Steve O'Malley, president; Angie Gommel; Kathy Boger; Karen Foley, secretary-treasurer; John Houlihan, president; John Comstock, vice-president; Dixie Evans.

Young political enthusiasts organize

The Young Republicans and the Young Democrats meet to perpetuate the ideals and principles of their respective parties. Because of the upcoming state and national elections, these organizations were particularly active in aiding their parties strive for victory.

Jim McDonald, president of the Young Democrats arranged for Governor Matthew E. Welsh to come and speak during a Thursday convocation period.

Discussing Krannert Hall's problems are Janie Wilcoxon, treasurer; Carol Clemenz, secretary; Joyce Brittenham, president, and Dinah Theobald, vice-president.

Dormitory officers organize to make

Working as a liaison between dorm residents, housemothers and the Dean of Women, the officers and council members of Krannert and Trimble Halls organize the events of Pixie Week, plan dorm decorations and parties, and provide coffee and doughnuts during finals week.

Trimble Hall's officers, Sue Decker, secretary; Carlene McClellan, president, and Nancy Kelly, vice-president, make plans for a dorm party. Not pictured is Jill Martin, treasurer.

Organizing Buxton Hall's activities are Tom McNamara, vice-president; Darrell Hoyer, secretary-treasurer, and Carl Morrison, president.

their campus homes working units

The men chosen to coordinate the dormitory activities of Buxton Dailey and Wilmore Halls promote the intramural program and act as disciplinarian committees with the aid of advisors Angus Nicoson, Dr. Brooker and Nathan Wooden.

Officers of Wilmore Hall for the first semester were Lynn Soughan, treasurer, and Rusty Davis, president. Not pictured are Dick Cravens, vice-president, and Bob Dellinger, secretary.

English, journalism encourage expression

Compiling Tusitala are Professor Deacon, Professor Warden, Barbara Sullivan, Sue Hiatt, Marydee West and Professor Bosley.

Alpha Phi Gamma's members are those who have served a responsible position on a school publication for a year. They sponsor Indiana Collegiate Press Association and Indiana Alpha Phi Gamma conventions as a part of their activities.

The English Club provides activities concerning English for those interested in expressing and growing in their written and spoken literature and language. One of their projects is Tusitala, a magazine containing the creative writings of students.

Class learning aided by language clubs

Kay Hoover, president, leads Le Cercle Francais. Other members are Jim Yater, Barbara Parsons, Barbara Sullivan, Mary Stapan and Betty Weddle.

French Club, Spanish-American Club and German Club are designed to enhance a student's knowledge of the languages, literature and customs of the countries represented. Valuable learning of this type gives students a chance to meet informally with professors and friends to discuss differences and similarities between American and foreign societies.

Newly-organized Spanish-American Club consists of Debbie West, Joan Delle Brown, Larry McCarty, Barbara Bean, sponsor Professor Walker, Carole Bortz, Susan Coombs and Judy Spurgeon.

Editor Karen Foley began enthusiastically organizing the editions of the Reflector in late spring of 1963, and after taking a survey concerning student likes and gripes about the newspaper, Miss Foley and her staff expanded the number and scope of columns and editorial comment. Later in the year the paper made use of these columns and editorials to lead an attack on campus apathy. By steadily improving design and methods of news presentation, the Reflector, published fortnightly, became increasingly newsworthy.

Published with the purpose of "mirroring life at Indiana Central," the Reflector becomes the students' portable campus activities guide.

Reflector staff assembles campus news

WICR enjoys school, community FM audience

WICR-FM staff members are (FRONT ROW): Michael Bertram, Bob Denney, Barbara Bean, Kathy Philbrook, Joan Delle Brown, Linda Jester, John Ransburg, Grant Marshall. Beginning its second year of broadcasting, WICR, 88.7 on the FM dial, expanded its schedule to accommodate new programs of music of special interests. Designed for relaxing are "Music to Study By" and "Music for a Sunday Afternoon," and of special interest to college students is "The Subtle Side." The staff also broadcasts sports and news events. Operating with the invitation to the school and community to join the station on "A Journey Through the Wonderful World of Sound," WICR enjoys an ever growing audience.

activities for students and community

Alpha Phi Omega, Lambda Chi Phalanx and Delta Gamma Rho are service and social organizations that provide fraternal companionship and promote school spirit by successful after-game dances and original Homecoming floats. APO sold used books at registration, sponsored an exciting bicycle race and organized a splash party. Lambda Chi helped in the Red Cross drive, and brought the Brothers Four to the campus in April. Delta Gamma Rho parked cars and checked coats for Artist Series performances.

Delta Gamma Rho's members are: Chuck Shultz, secretary; Jim Sweet, treasurer; Lynn Soughan, vice-president; John Waite, Larry Bowman, Stan Wrana, Jim Miller, Gary Palmer, Jerry Dearth, Bob Kasting, president.

Missing deadlines, shouting insults, and making enemies, the Oracle Staff moved along at a hectic pace. Frantic editors filled pages, and quick-minded assistants churned out copy by the pound. On each deadline eve the lights in Krannert basement glowed into the wee hours as the Oracle began to take shape. It was this time that the staff members found and lost friends while fighting for their ideas, and resorted to throwing alarm clocks and pop bottles when the pressures ran too high. After cleaning up these messes, the amazing staff members settled down, put their heads together, and finished the work only slightly late. It was a mad, mad, mad year.

Stan Adkins stepped in after Christmas to help with photography and darkroom work.

Athletic endeavor, whether on the gridiron, diamond, track, hardwood, mat or court, contains the desire to compete and excel. The total of all individual performances as spectators as well as active participants, creates team enthusiasm and reputation. Men and women sports enthusiasts working together are a mainstay in the unified force that has gained Indiana Central the respect of the residents and schools of Indiana. As a reward for consistent performances, perseverance and the desire to win, Indiana Central has captured the Hoosier College Conference's All Sports Trophy several times under the guidance of excellent coaching.

ATHLETICS

Leading Central's cheers this year are Maxine Alix, freshman; Bonnie Gates, freshman; Jackie Hall, sophomore; captain Sugie Windsor, junior, and Sandy Armacost, freshman.

Cheerleaders spark enthusiasm, spirit

Under a new method of selection, the five girls chosen as cheerleaders spent many hours in practice and utilized the suggestions of their sponsor, Mrs. Doreen St. Clair. Their enthusiasm in turn generated the spirit and the desire to win among spectators and athletes.

Sandy Armacost anxiously glances over her shoulder to view the basketball team's performance.

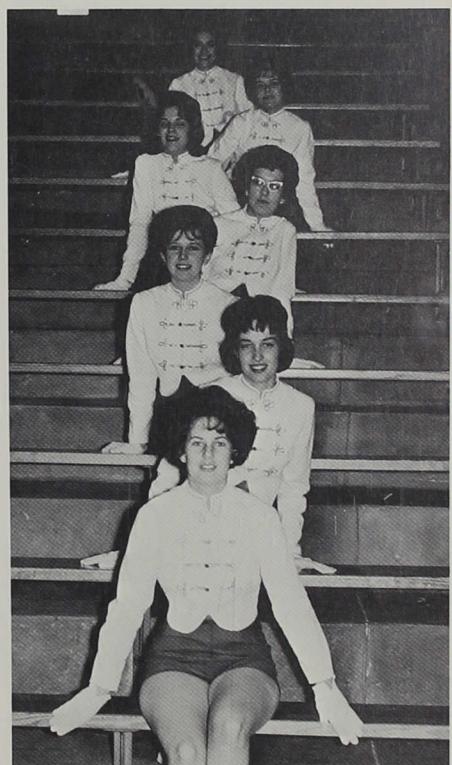

Cheerleaders strive to promote an enthusiastic backing for the teams.

Steppers add color to sports events

Performances by the Crimson Steppers reflect long hours of learning steps, dances and formations. Under the direction of Mrs. Courtwright Holst, sponsor and drillmaster, the Steppers presented their routines during the halves of the home football and basketball games.

Billilynne Daley captivates the sports spectators as she twirls her batons of fire.

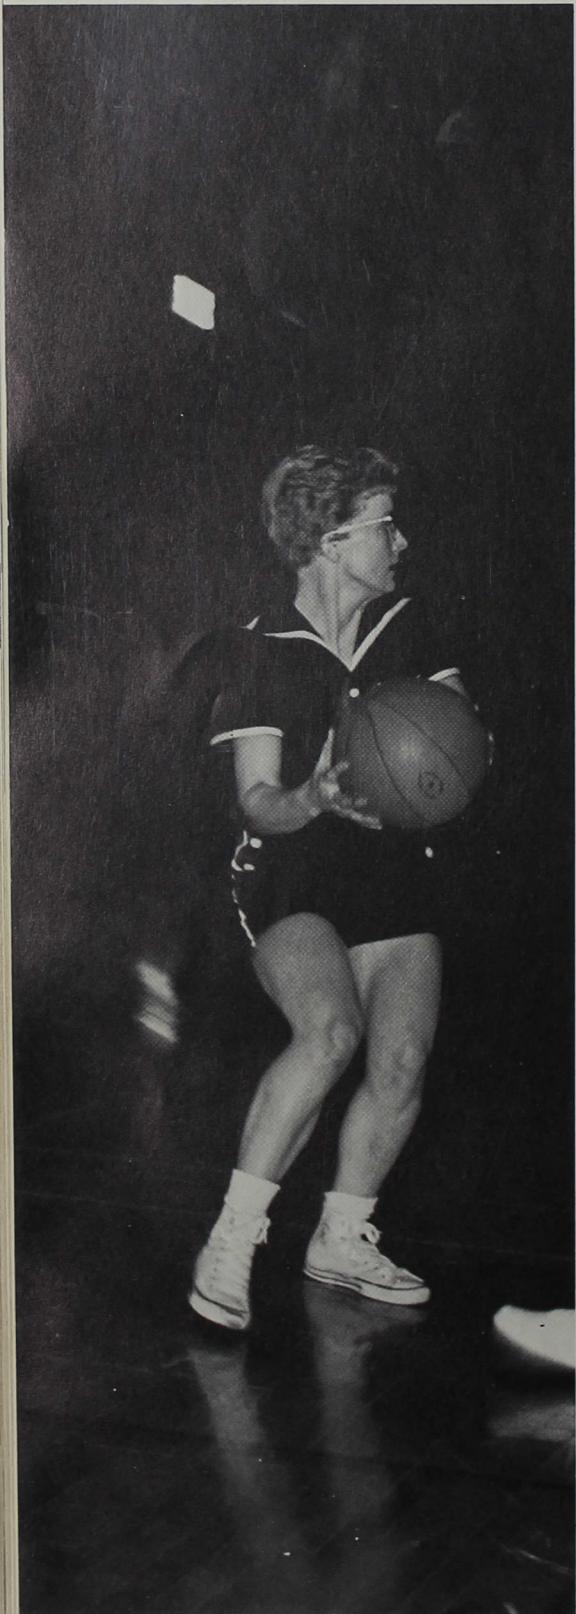

From bottom to top, the Crimson Steppers are Gail Myer, Dottie Wonnell, Patty Talbott, Sherry Meredith, Nancy Kelly, Sharon Bruness and Lillian Hastings.

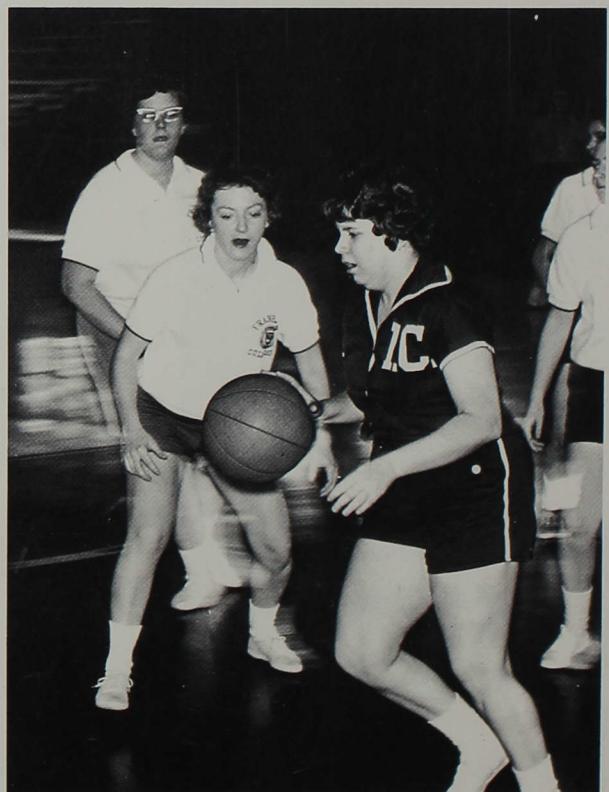

The Steppers execute one of their many formations on the football field.

"Winning isn't everything, but it sure beats coming in second." This motto expressed the attitude of the 1963-64 Whippets, women's varsity basketball team. Individual skills were combined to form cooperative teamwork under the direction of Mrs. Doreen St. Clair, coach and sponsor. Through practices held at 6:00 AM on Fridays and on Monday and Tuesday evenings, the Whippets created a spirited and competent team to overcome several opponents. The team suffered the loss of one of their high-scoring players, Linda Ireland, upon graduation.

Linda Ireland ties up the ball.

WRA proves recreational and educational

The Women's Recreation Association exemplifies that everyday pressures can very adequately be released through sports activities. WRA provides the varsity sports, hockey, basketball and softball; intramural sports, volleyball and tennis; and individual sports, tumbling and apparatus work. Trophies are awarded to the winning intramural team and individual awards are presented to the girls who have participated in varsity sports.

Gridders take 3 foes

Indiana Central's football team had twenty-one returning lettermen. Their desire, along with the desire of their coach, Paul Velez, was to improve the 1962-63 season record of one win, six losses, and three ties. They did just that, but this season's record of three wins and six losses failed to match the determination and spirit of the team. The Greyhounds were hampered throughout the season by injuries, and Coach Velez lost defensive back Larry Keene and linebacker Steve Maple to accidents. During the season the team was sparked by the defensive work of Vasco Walton. Walton was later voted most valuable player, and John Koontz and Bob Dellinger were chosen as co-captains. Coach Velez, hoping that bad luck is behind him, looks to next year's team with optimism.

PEMM, 'C' Association provide recreation

The Physical Education Majors and Minors began their activities with an outing and picnic at the home of Mrs. St. Clair's parents. The members later sold address labels to make money for a trip to Washington D.C. to the national convention of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation in the spring. Near the end of the year, they sponsored a comedy basketball game.

The purpose of the 'C' Association is to support healthy athletic programs and to promote and maintain school spirit and loyalty. Led by its president, John Koontz, the 'C' Club nominates Homecoming Queen candidates and provides concessions at the home ball games.

and HCC title

The hoop-burning Greyhounds ruled the courts throughout the season as they successfully defended their titles in the Hoosier College Conference and the Capital City Tournament. Midway in the season the team built up a 15-game winning streak and ended with a 26-3 record.

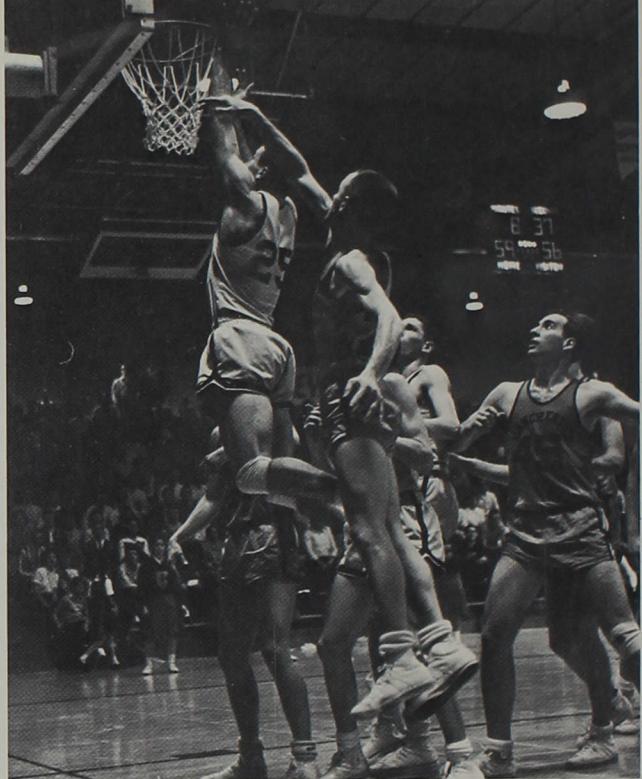

Tom Moran led the club in scoring for the third consecutive season. He was followed closely by rebounding leader Clark Crafton, guards Vasco Walton and Hank Voss, relief-center Phil Honnold, and center Jack Johnson. With balance their key, the fast-breaking Greyhounds simply outran their opponents and well deserved their second consecutive NAIA playoff bid.

Good Luck, Class of 1964!

Slater School and College Services wishes to thank the members of the graduating class for their patronage—to say farewell.

Your administration realizes that classroom performance often depends on planned nutrition. Through ARA Slater, they have wisely invested your dollars in quality food, prepared and served in a friendly manner.

We hope you have enjoyed Slater meals and service—that mealtime provided a pleasant social break in the day's busy routine. From all of us, good luck and good health in the years ahead!

Editor's Note:

I would like to express my sincere appreciation and thanks to the American Yearbook Company and their Indianapolis adviser, Bob Cavanagh; Mr. Leonard Pearson, publications adviser, and my staff, particularly those who helped diligently, dependably and enthusiastically. I will never forget the hectic nights before deadlines, the futility I felt when people refused to help, the times we couldn't find or didn't even have pictures, and the hours and hours we sacrificed to do the best we could with what we had.. I could've screamed when people not connected with the yearbook and who didn't understand the problems and tremendous responsibility that confronted us, would do nothing but complain and make snide remarks. You can't imagine what it was like spending Thanksgiving and Christmas vacations in the publications room, which, in the words of the 1963 Editor, Sherry Wayman, we would gladly have traded for a padded cell.

In spite of the troubles and low points, we had fun, more of less, in putting the book together and finally sending off the last few pages. Steve Dalzell, the assistant editor and a complete nut, livened the scene with his imitations of professors and hilarious laughter. Without his assistance and sense of humor I probably would've been completely lost. I also want to thank Sandy Adams for pitching in and doing everything from editing copy to typing up pages. And I want to thank those of you who helped with jobs you weren't even assigned to do, as well as those who performed your duties with perseverance and enthusiasm. Thank you for your assistance and understanding, staff members, students and professors. I feel I have done my best.
